MATTERS ABOUT TOWN.

GLEANINGS OF THE WEEK.

Children's head wraps on first page. Read the new advertisement of H. Black.

W. H. Sought is Lowville the Royal tailor, is in town.

Harper's Magazine for November makes its appearance yesterday.

Engineer Franklin is at work under the orders of his investigation at Sauquoit for a water supply.

The young gentlemen of West Winfield have organized a club similar to the knack of this village.

The Dave A. Pilkins laundry has resumed. The new purchaser has not taken possession.

Rev. Mr. Peck lectures before the Society of Christian Endeavor at the Presbyterian church this evening. He will be heard.

How is this for an illustrated paper? If the Board of Excise would only cause to look better natured, we would publish their pictures some week.

We can furnish the Country Gentleman, a well-known weekly journal, in connection with a paid-up subscription to the Times a year in advance for $2 extra.

The ruling price of cheese on the Utica Board of Trade Monday was 10⅞c. Butter sold at 27@28c. At Little Falls, farm dairy sold at 24@25c, and creamery at 26.

Mr. Dana T. Bennett will open a writing school at the old Temperance House. He will give a thorough course in the Spencerian system of penmanship. We hope to see him well patronized.

Poor people desiring reading matter, will be supplied by calling at this office. Others can have any amount of exchanges, containing much interesting reading, at half a cent apiece.

Rev. T. R. G. Peck was serenaded by the Waterville Band Tuesday evening. They then accepted an invitation to come in and were hospitably entertained by Mr. Peck and family.

Nothing of importance transpired at the Village Board meeting Monday evening. Their complaint to the Excise Board and its rejection was discussed, but no decisive action taken.

A slight collision occurred on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad yesterday morning at Chadwicks, between two sections of a coal train. No one was injured.

Mr. Benn Jewett proposes to take a few pupils for piano instruction during the coming winter at the most reasonable rates. Application may be made at the office of Dr. Bennett.

The Utica business men are arranging for an industrial fair for Utica, to be held in Lafayette rink on Fayette street. It will be opened about November 10 and be kept open a fortnight at least.

Patrick Landers made complaint recently against Chas. McGinley, claiming the latter made an assault on him some weeks ago. It was tried before Justice Nash, Monday, and McGinley was fined $5 and costs.

The Ladies' Missionary Society, of the Presbyterian church of this village, have contributed $259.70 cash, and $151 in clothing, etc., the present year. Clinton alone exceeds this, outside of Utica, with $612.70.

Dr. C. H. Bennett delivers an address entitled "Dental Organizations," at the semi-annual meeting of the New York State Dental Society to be held in Syracuse on Monday next, and of which he is vice president.

The attention of the ladies is called to the new advertisement of Miss C. M. Cain, who has received her new stock of fall and winter millinery, which includes all the new and desirable goods. Miss Cain invites all to call and see her stock whether intending to purchase or not.

John H. Jones, who keeps a saloon in the basement of 37 Washington street, was arraigned before the recorder last Monday on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10, that being the maximum penalty for the offense. This looks very much like enforcing the Sunday law in our city.—Rome Citizen, Oct. 15.

The Annual Convention of the Oneida County Sunday School Association will be held at the Methodist Church Verona, N. Y., Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 26 and 27, 1886. Wednesday afternoon, Rev. H. Skeel, pastor of the M. E. church of this village will deliver a blackboard sermon on "The Prodigal Son."

While admiring several elegant designs of soldiers monuments a day or two since, the thought came to us that Waterville has a very desirable place to erect such a monument, in the center of the Flag park. Perhaps Rowell Post by taking hold of the matter can raise sufficient funds by subscription to erect such a monument. It is worth thinking over.

J. F. Hamill sold stock, consisting of robes, blankets, harnesses, carriages, three horses, etc., from his livery establishment Tuesday. There was quite a fair attendance, and good prices for the time of year were realized. The sale was discontinued Tuesday evening, and Mr. Hamill for the present continues to run the livery, as he has sufficient stock left.

A large audience witnessed the play of Uncle Tom's Cabin at the Opera House Tuesday evening, by Abbey's Company. All enjoyed it whether they had seen it played before or not, as many new features were presented, among them the jubilee singers. Little Gracie Peck, as Eva, was the cutest little piece of humanity on the stage imaginable.

The Society of Christian Endeavor will hold their first meeting of the season on Friday evening next, Oct. 29, at 7 o'clock. The semi-annual election of officers will take place at that time. A general attendance of the members is requested to lay out the program of exercises for the winter as well as to decide upon some benevolent work to be undertaken by the Society during the coming year.

Several parties who were heavy creditors of J. J. Mabb when he closed his meat market here have been endeavoring to get a settlement, but so far without success. He was owing among others Melvin & Griffiths who swore out a warrant for larceny, and Mr. Mabb was arrested. Melvin & Griffiths claim the cattle was taken from the pasture under false pretenses. The case will be tried before Justice Church, October 27.

Proceedings have been begun before the Surrogate to sell the real estate of the late Edwin Westcott for the payment of his debts. Among the property that will undoubtedly be sold is the wagon manufactory on Stafford avenue, which for so many years was occupied by E. Westcott & Son, and the house and lot on Stafford avenue. Creditors are notified to appear before a Surrogate's court, to be held in Utica, December 1, at 10 A. M.

Deaths.

October 20, W. D. Bennett, at his late residence on White street, aged 79 years, 2 months and 7 days. The funeral occurred this afternoon, the services being performed by the Rev. Mr. Peck.

The youngest son of Mark Wort died this morning at Hanover, aged 4 months.

Ladies', misses' and gent's hound work soles in all colors and sizes at J. Hall's, Berrill Block.

W. D. Jones advertises a new stock of wall paper, borders, decorations, etc.

Lizzie Murphy, who was reported as missing last week, has returned. She left home, she said, to avoid disgrace, as she had been deceived.

The lecture committee have secured Hon. Geo. R. Wendling to open the season's course, Thursday evening, Nov. 18. Subject, "Stonewall Jackson." The next lecture will be by Leland T. Powers, who will read the play of "David Garrick," Monday evening, Dec. 6.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. Otis Webster will remove to Clinton about Nov. 1.

Mr. Charlemagne Tower, jr., of Duluth, Minn., has been here this week.

Jacob Pieces, who has been quite ill, is convalescent.

Messrs. Walsh, Felton and Reed have been duck hunting at Oneida Lake.

Mrs. Eli Ackley breaks up housekeeping this week and will remove from the village, at least for a time.

Rev. R. H. Nelson has been entertaining Rev. I. N. Westcott, of Skaneateles.

Mr. Charlemagne Tower and family intend to return to Philadelphia next week.

Mr. F. H. Coggeshall has been entertaining his brother-in-law, Mr. Blaney, of Homer.

Mr. George Ashforth, of New York, has been the guest at his sister-in-law, Mrs. D. S. Bennett.

Mrs. Wm. Smith is very ill with consumption and little hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Mrs. G. W. Bright and her sister, Mrs. Millis, left Wednesday for New York to be absent several days.

Miss Florence Jones, daughter of W. D. Jones, celebrated her eighth birthday last Friday evening with a pleasant party.

Mrs. J. W. Thompson, of Laporte, Ind., and Mrs. Sarah L. Millis, of Ogden, Utah, have been visiting Mrs. G. W. Bright and Miss Mary Thompson.

Mr. M. R. Bourke's little ten-year-old daughter is dangerously ill. She first had cholera infantum, but a complication of diseases has arisen. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bourke hope the little sufferer may recover.

On Nov. 10th Gilmore's Band will give a concert in Utica under the auspices of the Utica Benevolent and Protective order of Elks. The tickets will be one dollar, and can be had of Mr. Fred Penny. If enough tickets can be sold a special train will leave Utica after the performance.

Mrs. Emory Brown of this village has made an enlarged copy in crayon of a cabinet photograph of the late Jerome Green. It was made for Mrs. I. D. Brainard. All who have seen the picture pronounce it a fine one, and those who are acquainted with Mrs. Brown's talent in this line of art find it easy to believe it.

Mrs. John Casey, her daughter, Miss Anna, and her son Francis, with little Nellie and Willie Flynn, intend to sail for Europe about Nov. 1, where they will join Mr. Edward Flynn, who is now traveling on the continent with the midget General Mite, who is a son of Mr. Flynn.

Brother John A. Flanagan of the Utica Observer weighs 286½ pounds. In 1857 the year before the writer was born, Mr. Flanagan weighed 117 pounds. If wit, good nature and courtesy had weight upon the scales, John would tip the beam near the thousand pound notch. The latter have had weight enough to gather about John a host of friends, however.

One of the pre tiest things in the way of a birth-card came to our notice this week. A miniature photograph of a baby about three months old was mounted on the corner of a card the size of an ordinary calling card, by the photographer, and the name and date of birth printed on the card. It was an original idea by a Waterville lady, and no doubt it will be often adopted hereafter.

The members of the tennis club were notified to meet at the grounds Thursday afternoon for the purpose of having a tournament. The weather, however, was so disagreeable that only a few of the players ventured to put in an appearance. In the evening, however, the whole club met by invitation at the house of Misses Minnie and Florence Terry, and after partaking of a very choice tea, spent the evening with music, dancing and games.

The Sandwich Islands.

Sunday evening last Rev. T. R. G. Peck gave a narrative of his recent trip to the Sandwich Islands, in the Presbyterian church. His remarks were very instructive and entertaining, detailing as they did the work of the missionaries in the islands for a period of 50 years; the government, its educational system and results. From a barbarous people offering human sacrifices, the natives have been to a great extent civilized, and most of them read and write. The vices of intemperance and immorality are quite general among the natives, who are dying out at the rate of 2,000 a year, and while there were 300,000 when Capt. Cook discovered the Islands, now there are about 45,000.

Mr. Peck spoke of the work of Dr. Garrett P. Judd there, who left Paris, in this county, in 1828 as a missionary. Mrs. Barton, of this village remembers the doctor. When the Doctor decided to go, he gained the consent of Miss Laura Fish, then of Clinton, to become his wife and accompany him. Mrs. Putnam Page of this village was then a pupil of Miss Fish. The Doctor and his wife did noble missionary work in the islands, and the Doctor held responsible positions under the government at various times. They have both been dead some years, but four of their children survive, one son being Judge of the Supreme Court under the government. The speaker instanced an experience which was quite odd. He had gone to the top of the volcano of Kilauea, in the Island of Hawaii, and as he sat down to toe in the volcano house, he noticed a lady on his left hand who appeared like an American. He questioned her as to where she was from and was astounded to find she was from Waterville. The lady was equally astonished to meet anyone from Waterville, and inquired after her good old aunt, Mrs. Coggeshall, and other old acquaintances and friends. She was the wife of Judge Hitchcock and left Waterville as Miss Almeda Wedger, about forty-five years ago. Her husband was the son of a missionary. The judge soon joined them, and Mr. Peck accepted an invitation to spend a week at their home. Mr. Peck said he could not get through one-half he wished to say in one evening and he should give a lecture on the islands in general, Friday evening, and Sunday evening would talk of Dr. Judd and his work.

Mr. Peck also saw Miss Gertrude Gardner, who is instructress to the Princess Cleghorne. Miss Gardner is a sister of Mrs. D. Benedict. He also met Miss Hall, principal of the preparatory school at Oahu College, who has relatives here.

While there Mr. Peck met the son and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Judd and was made a member of the "Lonsin Society" which is composed of the descendants of the old missionaries and the present ones. It numbers some 451. He spoke at one church in Hilo, which is devoted to foreign residents, and after he finished an old missionary, aged 70, arose, who was the only one of the missionaries of Hilo now living. The old gentleman said he was very much interested in what had been said, and proposed that the church at Hilo should send their aloha-ai (their sincerest greeting) to the Presbyterian church at Waterville. Adding that "while we may never meet here on earth, we may in the Father's House above." The hymn sung at the close of that meeting was given out by Mr. Peck to close the service here. It was hymn 925, of the Hymn book, and the first verse is:

How blest the tide that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

On his way to San Francisco, Mr. Peck conversed with a passenger who escaped in the boat with W. G. Mayer, from the wreck of the Costa Rica, as related by Mr. Mayer in his lecture before the Society of Christian Endeavor last winter.

MORE OF THE EXCISE BOARD.

A Majority of the Board Reply in Their Way to the Have A Few Words on Newspaper Work.

Excise Commissioner Bourke's Reply.

Mr. Bourke says he does not like to post and if such charges as were made last week. We are pleased to know it and shall be as pleased to insert Mr. Bourke any candid rebuke on the same that can be found. To begin with, we understand as we stated last week, it is not personally we make charges against the members of the Board, but simply officially. Now a complaint sent in officially by the Board of Village Trustees is construed by the Excise Board to be a liability, and so far as they are concerned the Board is a myth. Therefore according to their reasoning the members of the Excise Board should take no personal offense against any charges made against them officially. Mr. B. says: "Since I have been a member of the Board of Excise we have had but one complaint made to us, and we acted on that at once and revoked the license of the party complained of, and were perfectly willing to do the same in this case upon the same complaint and valid evidence." The license revoked was the Pat Lander's license and was a very aggravated case. We gave the Board of Excise great credit as well as the complainant for their action at the time. While it looked to us as if the majority of the Board would object to revoking the license before them in the last instance, we do not doubt, nor did we insinuate that Mr. Bourke, as one member, would vote except according to the evidence had it been received, but, the flimsy reason for not receiving it, was certainly acquiesced in by him. We did not state, as Mr. Bourke seems to understand we did last week, that no bonds had been given. We found bonds for every license, so far as we looked. What we did call attention to was the fact that certain bonds was improperly approved or not shown on the bond to have been approved at all. If Mr. B. will carefully read our article he will see we criticized the records for not showing a proper bond had been offered and approved. We did not charge that no bonds had been received, nor did we think the bonds should be copied on the minutes, but simply claim the minutes should mention the receiving of an approved bond. Mr. Bourke says: "The fact of a license having been given is evidence that the bond has also been given." He assumes that, because "The law certainly required a bond to be given by a person taking out a license." Will Mr. Bourke pardon us if we claim that what the law demands is no guarantee to the people that this board has done everything lawfully. If so how will Mr. Bourke explain the giving of certain licenses to parties whom they know had no right to that certain kind of a license, no matter how much they were entitled to some other license that would cover the business intended to be carried on by them. We admit Mr. Bourke is not responsible for the acts of any previous board, nor did we claim he was, but if he speaks for the whole board he must admit that part of the board is responsible for his part of the action of previous boards. Mr. Bourke says: "There may occasionally occur an oversight in filling them (bonds) out, but that is immaterial so long as the sureties are all right." And yet when a complaint is made on which there can be no question all is right, and witnesses are present, the Board of Excise refused to act on it because they object to the manner in which it is made out. The shoe is then on another foot evidently. We do not claim the Board should be "private detectives" and we cannot see the force of such an excuse, when the Board of Village Trustees had hired the private detectives, if one so chooses to call them, and were prepared to lay their evidence before the Board. The Board was to hear evidence in this case, not to make it. Such an evasion is foreign to this case. The Board of Excise accepts the plea of the counsel for defendant, that the complaint was improper, as against the counsel for complainant that it was proper. Would they not have done better to have counsel of their own and decided on his opinion? We understand E. H. Lamb and Senator H. J. Coggeshall, both lawyers of well known ability, hold that the complaint is a proper one in every sense of the word.

We do not wonder that Mr. Bourke is displeased with our criticism, but he will have to furnish a better explanation than he has to prove it was unjust.

Mr. Terry's Reply.

WATERVILLE, Oct. 21, '86.

F. J. Cutler.

DEAR SIR:—As I have taken your paper for a long while and you have see fit to be disgusted with me and my name as I am with your paper I wis my name taken from your books and stop my paper.

I believe I do not owe you a cent.

(Signed) DELOS TERRY.

We part with Mr. Terry's company on our list with feelings of peculiar sadness, as we were in hopes of making of him, with proper instructions, a very competent Excise Commissioner. Now, all such teaching will be lost upon him unless he takes the quite common course of irate customers who stop papers which happen to tread on their tender corns, and borrows its reading of his nearest neighbor. For Mr. Terry's sake then we are sorry. As for the paper, editors have long since found that such "cut offs" by subscribers who take offense at some item which is for the general good, but which offends them, are more than doubled by men and women who have the more respect for a paper which says what it thinks is for the best, and hews to the line let the chips fall where they may. We are always ready to part with the name of anyone who can not read our paper with pleasure or profit. We do not expect to print a paper without at times making enemies. We could not. It takes too soft metal for such an editor. The New York Sun said something on this line of thought, which was to the point, not long since:

We believe in the man or woman who has enemies. This does not sound sound but it is sound. Your milk and water people, who content themselves with simply doing no harm at the same time do no good. They are mere negatives. Your man of force who does not wait for a stone to get out of his way, but manfully rolls it over, may, unintentionally, hurt somebody's toes in the act but thousands who will have to go that way will thank him for clearing it. The man or woman who has no enemies is, generally, a sleek, creeping, or cowardly creature, caring for no one but himself—smirking and creeping his unchallenged way to the obscurity he merits. He adds nothing to the common stock—does no good in the world and is lowered into six feet of earth without one sincere regret from any one. He has no enemies; but has he had a friend? A place is vacant, but not in any warm, grateful heart. A fig for such people.

Henry Watterson said: The ideal editor need not be—nay, he must not be—a neutral nor a "free lance." Often the worst kinds of servility and corruption are found masquerading under the pretense, and sometimes the actual belief, of "Independence." No man can amount to much in this world who does not believe in something, and who has not some method in his believing, and to say of a man that he is not a partisan is to imply that he is either a scamp or a skeptic. The ideal editor may be a partisan as he pleases. But he must be disinterested; he must represent truth. Too honest to be bought and too brave to be bullied, such an one needs only capacity to compass every end possible to the reason of his being. He will establish between his readers and himself a perfect understanding as is established between the upright banker and his depositors, or the honest lawyer and his clients.

West Shore R. R. Excursion to New York.

The West Shore Railroad Company announce an excursion to New York at reduced rates, for Wednesday next, Oct. 27. The tickets will be good to and including Friday, Oct. 29 for returning. The Bartholdi statue will be unveiled Oct. 28. Take this route from Utica and enjoy the ride through the beautiful Mohawk valley, around foothills of the Catskill Mountains and through the highlands of the Hudson river.

Clayville.

(From our special correspondent.)

Oct. 20.—Mrs. R. D. Gillett of Utica, is in town.

—Mr. E. R. Avery is in Oswego in attendance upon a wedding which is to take place there to-day.

Miss Addie Tucker of Ilion is visiting Mr. Geo. H. Lindsay.

The Ladies' Aid Society met this afternoon at the house of Mrs. David W. Green. There was a large attendance.

A public dance will take place on Friday evening at Brooks Hall, Tucker's Farm, manager.

—Miss Mary P. Tompkins, of Utica, is making a short stay with her sister.

Mr. Irl S. Pierce, from Wisconsin, is the guest of Mr. Geo. Pierce. This is his former home and he has many friends in this vicinity.

—Mr. Elias Jones and his granddaughters, the Misses Ida and Anna Jones this afternoon went to West Winfield to attend the marriage of Miss Tara Crumb to Mr. George Griffith of Utica.

—Several of the young people had a very quiet gathering at the home of Miss Nellie Fisher and there had the pleasure of meeting and becoming acquainted with Miss Emma Fisher, of Canastota, who has been here for a few days. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all.

—The dance held in Rhodes' Hall on Wednesday evening last was given in honor of Miss Mary Levens, of Massachusetts, by some of the young people of the place, and not by the St. Patrick's Society. Miss Levens formerly resided in Clayville, and her old associates were very happy to show their regard for her in this way.

—The annual Harvest Home Festival, given by the Sunday school, will be held in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27th, in connection with short musical and literary exercises, in character somewhat resembling that of last year, but expected to surpass it in many ways.

To the Public.

Reports have been put into circulation to the effect that the undersigned has discontinued his business as undertaker at the village of Waterville, which report has no foundation whatever in fact, and has been put in circulation without authority. The undersigned still continues his business as undertaker, and is prepared at all times to give the business his careful and prompt attention, and in the most approved manner.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, MAIN STREET, REV. T. R. G. PECK, PASTOR.

Morning—The names that are written in the Book of life.

Evening—Aspects of Missionary work in the Sandwich Islands.

The Senator and the Sentinel.

As Senator Coggeshall considers himself sufficiently vindicated at the polls last fall, he has withdrawn his suit against the Rome Sentinel.

The Rome Sentinel says: "Senator Coggeshall, becoming satisfied that the Sentinel had no malice toward him in the publication, during the last campaign, of certain allegations made by a third party, has discontinued his libel suit against the publishers of this paper. It is deemed proper here to state that the Sentinel on its own account, has never charged the senator with anything derogatory, and does not now allege anything against him; but on the other hand it is willing that the vindication which Mr. Coggeshall received from the people of Oneida county last fall through his majority of 2,469, the largest received by any successful candidate, shall stand, without detraction, as a sufficient refutation of any allegations that were made in any quarter. We have never had any ill-feeling toward the senator and beg to assure him that we have not a particle now."

Sangerfield.
