

THE LATE DR. EARLE.

The death of James Lumley Earle, M.D., of Newball Street, was announced in our obituary column yesterday. The deceased gentleman had been for several weeks suffering from indisposition, in consequence of which he had retired from the contest for an important appointment at the General Hospital, which is to be filled to-day. He died on Tuesday night, after a long and painful illness, in his thirtieth year. During the time he had practised in Birmingham, Dr. Earle had made many friends, especially among his medical brethren, and his early removal will be generally deplored.
