A Sanders Family—Northants (England) To Texas In 500 years; Series Begins

This is the beginning of a series of articles on the history of Sanders who started in Northhamptonshire (Northants), England, and came to the Virginia, then to East Texas. This is from a recently published book by Howard K. Sanders of Nashville, Tennessee, titled A SANDERS FAMILY—Northants to Texas in 500 Years.

Laurence Sanders, one of the outstanding figures in this book, was first mentioned in issue no. 2, page six of Siftings. In issue 5, Laurence Saunders, the martyr, was featured in a lengthy article.

FOREWORD

Initially, the purpose of this work on the Sanders family lineage was undertaken to assure that future generations of the descendants of Vernon and Louise Sanders of East Texas would never again have to wonder who they are and from whence they came. In retrospect it is with great regret that the author had neither the time, the perspective, nor the inclination to start this work when his direct predecessors were here to interview in person. Consequently, much of the detail on the family of Vernon and Louise, as well as other Sanders families who settled in the Texas counties of Houston and Trinity, was provided by immediate family members and friends based on their first-hand knowledge and memories.

However, in documenting the detail of this family background a second important purpose for this work began to emerge. Numerous other connecting lines were discovered. The author has come to appreciate that it is extremely rare to find so much detail on one's ancestors and acknowledges that good fortune, good friends and meticulous Quaker records are the main reasons that so much of this information was discovered. But, due to limited space and logistics, it was impossible to cover all of them in this work. Therefore, for anyone reading this record and wishing to attempt to connect their own family lines, the author requests that they forward their own documented materials directly to the address listed below so it can be formally merged and made a part of the whole, thereby expanding this resource for all to use.

It has proven common to find that the name is frequently transposed in spelling between Sanders and Saunders, often causing confusion. For that reason the spelling used in the text is reflected exactly as it was found in the respective sources. But, for all the generations preceding Vernon and Louise, the research techniques, materials and sources used are fully documented herein and available in the stated locations at the time of this writing (1995).

Chapter I

EARLIEST KNOWN ORIGINS OF THE FAMILY

To simply state that the Sanders lineage springs from an ancient English family is a profound understatement in today's perspective. The name has occurred in a multitude of references all throughout recorded English history. The surname was frequently recorded as Saunders, Sawnders, Sainders, Saynders, Saunderrs, Samnders, Saunder, Sander¹ and occasionally it was spelled differently even between father and son. It is not unusual to find that a person was born with his name spelled one way, married with another and have his death recorded with a third.¹

"Noted historians have extracted a wealth of history and legend from the Book of Kels, the Falaise Rolls, Battel Abbey Rolls, the Wace Poem, Irish and English parish rolls and ancient land grants to record the history of the Sanders family. Their conclusions are that the first written

A Dream of Every Family Historian

I think the dream of a every person working on his or her family history is to make a trip back to the "old country" and find connections with people and places. This was not my dream in the beginning, but the more I got involved with searching for people and searching for answers, the road led across the waters.

With a great deal of luck, and following directions in In Search Of Your German Roots, I was in touch with Schäfer relatives living the same house that my great-grandfather left in 1856 to come to America. I received a great deal of help from two German genealogists in Hannover. On a tour to Europe that same year, 1988, we spent half a day with the Schäfers in the small town of Ottenstein. We were treated royally and made to promise that we would return and stay longer.

This year we made that return trip. It was wonderful! It gave more meaning to this thing we spend so many hours with—this thing called genealogy. Warm relationships were apparent in spite of a language and cultural barriers and three generations of time. And our hosts were just as pleased with our visit. Tears were in everyone's eyes when we left.

This is similar to the experience of Howard Sanders, whose book is being used in this and coming issues of SANDERS Siftings. Howard had the same kind of excitement in his eyes as he described his visit to Harrington, England, the home of his Sanders ancestors 500 years ago. He met Gerald E. S. Sanders, a relative fourteen generations removed. Read Howard's story and share in that excitement. ■

record of the name was found in County Wicklow where they were granted lands by Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke, for their assistance in the invasion of Ireland in 1172." ¹

To provide some historical perspective in the tracing of the family, it is helpful to begin centuries earlier. Part legend and part history, it is recorded that "from Spain, Milesius, the great Milesian King sent his son to explore the Irish coast. On learning that his son had been murdered in Ireland by the three resident Kings (the Danans), Milesius gathered an army to take his revenge on the Irish but he died before he could embark on the trip. However, his remaining eight sons conquered Ireland in his stead and renamed it Land of the Scoti.

"More than a millennium later, in 1172 A.D., Dermott McMurrrough, in his fight for the position of Ard Righ, requested Henry II of England for assistance. Henry, of England, commanded the Earl of Pembroke, nick-named Strongbow, to help Dermott in his fight for the crown of Ireland. Strongbow recruited 2,000 trained mercenaries of Norman, Welsh or Cornish background from South Wales and sailed for Ireland. The battles against the untrained, badly clad Irish were short, swift and sure. In the end, it was Henry and Strongbow who held the reins of power in Ireland, not Dermott McMurrrough. Strongbow doled out to his army commanders much of the confiscated Irish land in Southern Ireland. Ironically, after several centuries, some of the invaders became as Irish as the native families. Some of the Irish family Sanders emerged as a distinguished family in County Wicklow where they were recorded as a family of great antiquity seated with manor and estates in that county." ¹

This ancient Norman family was descended from Robert, Lord of Insbrock, brother of the Count of Hapsburg. Over time they were granted estates in Leicestershire, Oxfordshire, Warwickshire, Northhamptonshire, and Herfordshire. Their distinctive coat of arms with three Elephant heads followed both the senior and junior lines in all stems of the family. They were elevated to the peerage as the Barons Saumerez. The family motto is "Spes Mea In Deo." ¹ Curiously, this is the same wording of the motto of the Knights

Templar. As will be illustrated later, this provokes an interesting inference which might explain the transfer of the estate from the Knights Templars to the Knights Hospitalers and ultimately to the Sanders family.

It is difficult to ascertain the complete train of ownership in the Sanders estate of Harrington. But, clearly, the estate was at one time in the hands of the priory of St. John of Jerusalem, Knights Hospitalers, and remained as such until the dissolution of the monasteries. The sequence is then recorded as follows: "Of the tenants in this lordship to the knights hospitallers, the principal appear to have been the family of Saunders; of which family was Edward Saunders, the son of John Saunders, yeoman, who died in the sixth year of Hen. VIII seized of messuages, lands and tenements in Harrington, which he held of the prior of S. John of Jerusalem by fealty and a certain annual payment.

"His successor in this estate was Laurence Saunders his second son, who left them at his death in the thirty sixth of this reign to Thomas his son and heir. By the inquisition then taken he was found to have held them of the crown, as parcel of the late dissolved priory S. John of Jerusalem. In the thirty third of the same reign the manor of Hetherington or Harynton, with other estates formerly belonging to the priory of S. John's in Arthingworth, Kelmars, Eltyndon, Buckby and Yelvertoft, by a grant under the great seal reciting a former grant to Laurence Saunders, had been given to Francis Pygot in exchange for lands in other counties. In the fifth year of Queen Elizabeth a fine was levied of it between Richard Peyton gent. demandant, and Thomas Pygot Esq.; deforciant.

"The same year died Thomas Saunders Esq. seized of the possessions in Harrington which came to him from his ancestors, in which he was succeeded by William Saunders his brother and heir: which William dying in the twenty fourth of the same reign, possessed of the manor and advowson of the rectory of Harrington, left them to Edward Saunders Esq; his son and heir. From this gentleman they passed into the hands of Sir John Stanhope Kt. who levied a fine of them in the forty fifth year of Queen Elizabeth. In the third of James I. he was created lord Stanhope of Harrington, and died in 1620...." ²

The book, A Sanders Family—Northants to Texas in 500 Years, featured in this issue, is available from the author, Howard K. Sanders.

Copies can be ordered from Col. Sanders at 5409 Franklin Road, Nashville, TN 37220. The price per copy is $24.95 plus $3.95 for packaging and postage. The book contains many photographs and a detailed map showing the exact location of Harrington, England, if you would like to visit the ancestral town of many of our Sanders/Saunders.

ly granted this estate in Northamptonshire, England, more specifically, in and around the little village cited now called Harrington. This became the seat of the Sanders family ancestors in the Midlands. The earliest of those documented thus far was Robert (anno obit 1439) followed by many others who are identified and named herein.³

Harrington is a typical, small English village located in the northwestern part of Northamptonshire (Northants). Nearby is a slightly larger village named Rothwell and another more prominent city, Kettering. The area is approximately one and one half hours northwest of London. The region is still oriented to farming. The village itself contains approximately 35 residences, one pub and the original church from the time the Sanders family owned the estate.

The church, located approximately 150 yards down a lane running east from the village center, is still active today and services are regularly held. The list of incumbent pastors which is posted in the rear of the church records names dated as far back as 1218.⁴

Also, the church name remains unchanged, the Church of Saints Peter and Paul. It is well kept and the burial grounds surrounding the church are well tended and show recent interments. The earliest part of the nave is thought to be 12th century. It is of cruciform plan and was originally aislesless. The narrow side aisles were probably added in early or mid 14th century. The chancel is separated from the nave by a carved oak screen with intricate tracery in a grape vine design.

A stone staircase leads to a rood loft doorway above. There is a gray marble tomb with interesting brasses of the family of Laurence Saunders and an impressive alabaster monument erected in memory of William Saunders and is dated 1588. Part of the original floor that remains is made from Norman patterned tiles. In 1859 the church floor was repaved and Victorian choir stalls installed. Unfortunately, the original order of the Norman tiles was broken up and some more contemporary memorial stones now partly cover some of those original tiles. Part of an early Saxon stone coffin lid stands in the south window. At the back of the church, enclosed in a glass case, is a vamping horn of which only eight remain, two being in Northamptonshire. This Tuba Stentorophonica may have been used as a "speaking trumpet" or to vamp accompaniment for choir and congregation before the introduction of church organs. The present tower was built in 1809 on the site of the former one which fell down in 1800.⁴ . . .

The link in the foregoing is additionally supported by reference to Index to Biographies of Englishmen, 1000-1485 Found in Dissertations and Theses.⁵ The text of that work is as follows: "Saunders, Thomas FL 1440. Interior Govt Svc: Farmer Landholding: Berkshire." (That portion of the text "FL 1440" simply means that documentation was found that Thomas' birth occurred after the year 1440. From these and other works one can deduce that 1485 is a fairly valid birth date. That would make Thomas 25 years of age at the birth of his son Lawrence who was born in 1510.)

From this point the documenting of people, places and events of the family becomes easier because of the significant role played by Lawrence, son of Thomas, in "the Reformation" movement which was sweeping Europe at that time.

George W. Sanders, State Legislator, Father of Many

Submitted by Mark Strube at 4434 S. 112th E. Ave, #2211, Tulsa OK 74146.

A person on the frontier who brought considerable wealth with him quickly elevated to "high society." At a time when the majority of those who moved westward did so in order to make a living, the man with money stood out from the crowd. Often called "Squire," they were considered prominent, not just in wealth, but in society and politics as well. One such man was George Woodard Sanders.

George Sanders, was born on 24 Sep 1785 in Virginia. On 16 Dec 1805 George married Drucilla Best, daughter of John and Drucilla (Bradley) Best in Bedford Co., Virginia. Their first seven children were born in Bedford Co., Va., before the family started moving. About 1817 the family moved to Kentucky then on to Tennessee before moving to Jackson Co., Alabama, where they resided for about four years before moving to Arkansas.

In 1831 the Sanders family came to Arkansas Territory. On 17 Nov 1835 George's beloved wife Drucilla passed away. George went back to Jackson Co., Ala., and on the 27 Oct 1836 he married Rhoda (Cope) Waits widow of Allen Waits. George took his new bride back to Arkansas to his home at Wesley, Madison County.

George Sanders was elected to the Arkansas House of Representatives on Oct. 1, 1838 and served until Dec. 28, 1840. George was instrumental in setting the western boundary of Madison County, Ark. After this there is not much known about George. He had quite a large family by his two wives. On Oct. 27, 1861 George passed away and was laid to rest in an unmarked grave in the Wesley cemetery.

George had about 16 children by his two wives and about ninety grandchildren.

James Sanders II, Patriot From Revolutionary War

From Ron Daniel, 301 Westminster Ave., Ashborough at Oakbrook, Summerville, SC 29485-8070, [RED DAD@aol.com]. James Sanders II, Rev. Patriot was born on 29 Dec 1733; died on 4 Aug 1797 in Oglethorpe Co. Ga.; served in the Revolutionary War. He married Sarah Tully about 1755 in N.C.? They had the following children: John (b. 22 Jan 1756), Nancy (b. 12 Jan 1758), Charity (b. 5 Apr 1760), James III Rev. Soldier (b. 18 Mar 1762), Sarah (b. 7 Jul 1765), Polly (b. 17 Nov 1773), Jonathan (b. 26 Feb 1775), William (b. 23 Jan 1777), and Dorcas (b. 21 Nov 1779). While in Surry Co., N.C., James performed patriotic service during the Revolutionary War, which entitles his descendants to DAR membership (see the DAR Patriotic Index, Vol. I:594; DAR Nat'l #557343). During the Revolution, he surveyed and marked out a road and hired a substitute for his son, James, Jr., the first time he was called for service. First found in Johnston Co. records on 6 May 1757 when he received a Granville land grant on Cow Branch. He received another land grant on 21 July 1761, on Middle Creek, which appears to be the same land that was later sold to a Hardy Sanders in 1769. By late 1794, he had moved to (then) Oglethorpe Co.—a 20 September 1800 church record shows a James Sanders of Brushy Creek on the south fork of the Broad River. That property, just outside modern-day Danielsville, was in the Sanders family until John Sanders (son of Henry Brittain Sanders and Lettie Anna Baker, sister of Charlene Sanders Daniel) died in 1976. Individual source: Family Bible of Helen Hitchcock Fortson of Hull of Madison County, Ga. Does anyone know the parents of James Sanders II above? ■

Papaw Ron is Searching Elisha Sanders Line

From Ron & Joan Sanders, 3708 River Bluff Road, Prospect, KY 40059, [PapawRon@aol.com]. Looking for anyone searching the Elisha Sanders line (born 1782) of Jackson Co., Tenn. Elisha and wife Elizabeth (Campbell) had several children. We believe them to be Henry (1814), Elisha Jr. (1816), Thomas (1830), Ann Mariah, and Lenora Sanders. Elisha & Sarah was born in either Kentucky or Virginia.

Elisha Jr. married Sarah (Sallie) Gordon in Jackson Co., Tenn. in the late 1830s and were the parents of at least nine children, all born in Jackson Co. They were William (1839), John (1843), Alamarinda (1845), Elba (1846), Mary (1848), Elmore (1851), Wilmore (1853), Addison (1858) and James Russell Sanders (1861). All of Elisha Jr.'s family moved to McLeansboro, Hamilton Co., Ill. in 1861.

I have detailed information on all of Elisha Jr.'s family with the exception of my Grandfather Elmore Sanders. Would appreciate any help on locating my Grandfather Elmore's death date, burial site, etc. and will share any information on others. ■

Looking For Parents Of George A. Sanders

Teresa Venable McMillan, 1900 Shorewood Lane, Mound, MN 55364-1317, [TMcMillanB@aol.com] is looking for parents of George A. Sanders, b. 1824 in Ky., possibly Adair Co.; married Nancy A Pelly 28 Mar 1851 in Adair Co, Ky.; d. 1865-1870. Nancy, b. 1832-1836 in Ky, probably Adair Co., died after 1900. Children: Mary E (b. 1851), Mahalie Frances (b. 1853), James H (b. 1855), John R (b. 1857), Zachariah (b. 1860), Emily J (b. 1862), and George B (b. 1865). According to 1860 & 1870 census, all children born in Kentucky, assuming Adair Co. My direct ancestor, Mahalie Frances, married her sister Mary's widowed husband, Parker H. Thomas, in March 1854 in Adair Co. George A. Sanders appears in the 1860 Adair Co. census with wife & children. He also appears in the 1850 Adair Co. census as a 26-year-old living alone. He had real estate valued at $1500 and I believe he had two female slaves. ■

Dale O. Gaa, RD 2, Box 187A, Greenwich, N.Y. 12834 is seeking information on parents, siblings and children of William A. Sanders/Saunders born about 1815 in Canada, married about 1840 (place not known) Susannah Mosher (1821-1876) and died 1891 in Whitehall (Washington Co.), N.Y. William and Susannah had nine children (Henrietta, Daniel M., Benjamin H., Harriet, William H., John, Elizabeth B., Clarrissa A., and James Y.) and lived in West Farnham, Quebec, Canada until about 1871 when they moved to N.Y. with their 5 youngest children.

Louise Cain Eaton, P. O. Box 62, Stark City, MO is researching a Francis or F. F. Sanders, first found in the 1850 census of Madison Co., Ark., War Eagle Township. By the 1860 census he was in Newton County, Mo., Granby Township. F. F. Sanders died March 13, 1875, age 74. From census records she knows his wife's name was Hester "Hetty" (possibly Ledbetter). Children: John (b. 1825), Ben (b. 1826), Arthur L. (b. 7 Nov 1827, d. 15 Feb 1864, m. Edna J. Clemont 24 Sep 1848). Francis Elijah (b. 1829, m. Sarah C. Ledbetter), Elihue (b. 1833), James (b. 1835). William M. (b. 18 Oct 1841, d. 1 May 1899 Newton Co., Mo., m. Lucinda Wood), and Julia (b. 1844). William M. is her line. From other family members she learned that the sons John and Ben left Arkansas for the California Gold Rush and were never heard from.

Dixie S. McCain, 149 Anabel Lane, Houston, TX 77076-4505. My great grandfather, Jesse Sanders/Saunders, b. 1816 in Ala.; died in Chickasaw Co., Miss., 10 June 1872; married (1) Kathryn Bass, 1 Sept 1834 in Lowndes Co., Miss. Their children: Emily Jane (m. Will J. Rogers), Wm Marion (m. Mary C. Goodwin), Elijah B., Lydia (m. Hugh M. Rogers), and John Robert (m. Amanda Bullard) [my grandparents]. Jesse, Wm Marion, and Elijah B. served in the Confederate Army. Jesse married (2) widow Sarah Jane Moore Evans, and had three children by her: Jesse Solomon, Cathrine, and Kizzy. I need to prove the following are Jesse's parents: Elijah B. Saunders (b. 1797 in Kentucky) married Lydia, b. Virginia. Their known children: Martha (m. John B. Summers), Martin S., Elizabeth, Sarah M. (m. John E. Hudson), Armintia (Minta) (believe m. Snow), and Elzy Sanders. Sometime after 1880 the four sons of Jesse came to Texas. If there is anyone who can help me on any of these families I would appreciate it so much.

Wants To Know About Thomas B. Sanders (1809) From Franklin Co., N.C.

From Annette Shelton, 189 Wheeler Rd., Monroe, LA 71203-9634, [shelton@bayou.com]. My search for Sanders ancestors reaches back to Franklin Co., N.C. where my g-g-grandfather, Thomas B. Sanders, was born in 1809. He married Caroline Arendell (b. 1811 in N.C.) there on Feb 12, 1829. Two of their children were born in Franklin Co. They were Kemp H. Sanders (b. 1830) and Percival Fabinet Sanders (b. Sep 14, 1832). Percival married Martha Ann Braswell (b. Dec 14, 1840 in Edgecombe? or Franklin? Co. N.C.) on Jan 14, 1858 in Chicot Co., Ark. Martha Ann was the daughter of Wiley Braswell and Lucy Bailey Braswell of Edgecombe Co., N.C. Percival F. Sanders is my direct ancestor.

Thomas and Caroline made a long journey west to finally settle in Morehouse Parish, La. in 1847. They had these children born along the way: Thadeus C. (b 1836 in Ala.); Erasmus Isaiah (b. 1838 in Miss.); Mary Varice (Jane?) (b. 1840 in Miss.); Rebecca Angeline (b. 1842 in Miss.); and James Napoleon (b. 1845 in Miss.) Church records show that a Thomas B. Sanders and his wife Caroline joined the Mushulaville Baptist Church, Noxubee Co., Miss. in 1843. Mississippi is where they stayed the longest en route to Louisiana, but it is not known if they were in Noxubee Co. all this time. Would like to hear from any Sanders descendants in this part of Miss. Descendants of Kemp H. Sanders, age 30, on 1860 census of Bird Township, Jackson Co., Ark. died in Independence Co., Ark. Descendants of James Napoleon Sanders lived in Independence Co., Ark., buried at Floral, Ark.; daughters' married names are Ida Sanders Cleveland of Pangburn, Ark. and Grace Sanders Dosset of Floral, Ark.

I would like to share information with anyone whose Sanders roots go back to Franklin Co., N.C. I am eager to learn who Thomas B. Sanders' parents were, if he had siblings, and where they came from. ■
