Lars and several of his children immigrated from Denmark to the USA in 1863. Lars was an old man of 73 years when he came to Utah. He lived with his daughter Bengta Rasmussen and her family in Hyrum, Utah until his death.

Inger is his unmarried (divorced) daughter, and she is buried next to Lars. Inger and Bengta lived near each other and both helped to take care of their dad.

Bengta and her husband are buried several rows away.
