

Some Descendants of Willis Brewer of North Carolina and Ohio

Willis Brewer first came to my attention while examining the correspondence of William B. Bogardus regarding Brouwer, Brower and Brewer families. A number of his correspondents were of the belief that Willis Brewer, who apparently was born in North Carolina, was a descendant of Adam Brouwer of Gowanus, Long Island. Most specifically, the claim was that Jacob Brouwer (b.1707) a son of Sybrant Brouwer of New York City, a great-grandson of Adam Brouwer, and great-great grandson of the fabled Anneke Jans. This notion is undoubtedly incorrect and was likely spawned sometime during the late 1800s or early 1900s during one of the great drives to recruit all manner of persons named Brewer or Brower with the hope of cashing in on the imaginary fortune due the heirs of Anneke Jans. These efforts created numerous false lines of ancestry, the claim of Willis Brewer of North Carolina as a son of Jacob Brouwer of New York City, being only one of the more fantastic assertions.

The parents and ancestors of Willis Brewer are, to my knowledge, unknown. Below is a compiled genealogical summary of some of the descendants of Willis Brewer. The correspondence collected by William B. Bogardus during the 1970s through 2000s was used as a starting point. From there, vital records and census records found online were used to confirm claims and to add to the account of the descendants. The summary is certainly not complete, and I would welcome corrections as well as any info that would shed light on the ancestry of Willis Brewer provided it is backed by reliable records. Contact can be made through the website address found at the end of the summary.

Generation One

1. WILLIS' BREWER was probably born before 1760 in North Carolina.

Willis Brewer has not been identified on the 1790 U.S. census in North Carolina. A Willis Brewer appeared on the census in 1800 Halifax, Northampton Co., North Carolina, with a household of 1 male under 10, 1 male 26-44, 1 female 16-25. This record most likely does NOT pertain to this Willis Brewer.<sup>1</sup> Willis Brewer has not been located on the 1810 U.S. census. Records for the state of Ohio for 1810 do not exist. He appeared on the census on 7 Aug 1820 Harrison, Jackson Co., Ohio, with a household of 2 males under 10, 1 male 10-15, 1 male over 45, 2 females under 10, 1 female 10-15.<sup>2</sup> The ancestry of Willis Brewer is not known. The name of his wife is not known and the children listed have not been confirmed by suitable documentation. This family is currently considered speculative.

Some descendants (correspondants with William B. Bogardus) have claimed that Willis is a descendant of Adam Brouwer (Jacob->Sybrant->Jacob->Adam) but offer no proof. This line of descent is certainly incorrect. Descendants have been found in Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota, and appear to be numerous. Y-DNA testing of a direct male descendant with the BREWER surname, may be helpful in directing descendants towards their correct ancestry.

Bogardus Collection, Anneke Jans and Everardus Bogardus Descendants Association, Wilmington, Ohio. Privately printed. This work contains errors, among them the false account of Anneke Jans descent from William of Orange. This account had been proved a fantasy long before 1988, and its inclusion in the reprint edition is unfortunate. The account of Pieter Adamsz Brouwer is also in error, and there may be other errors with the earlier Brouwer generations. Latter generations are recounted by descendants who lived in the latter part of the 19th and first half of the 20th centuries, and the ancestors who they describe were their parents and grandparents. In addition to the original work of Bertha C. Spencer, the "re-publisher" Sharon Brewer Dodge, includes her own Brewer lineage with the incorrect claim that her ancestor, Willis Brewer of North Carolina, was a son of Jacob Brouwer (b.1709) and a grandson of Sijbrandt Brouwer & Sarah Webber of New York City (this claim has no basis in fact). There is also a short note from William B. Bogardus who questions this connection. There is no factual evidence that would tie Willis Brewer of North Carolina (late 1700s) to any of the Brouwer families of New Netherland. Appendix p.B.
