than three years old, and who lost its mother ^{at} a little over one year old, If I was the recipient of a good Gov. Office, like the Knoxville P.O. the Rev. Col. the Prosecuting Attorney, the Agent for Paying Pensions, I might then be willing to prosecute such a claim through my sympathy for a deceased Soldiers Orphan children, but when it comes to making a living by prosecuting claims I would prefer, if I had to choose between one of two things, to wit: choose between prosecuting Pension claims like the one under consideration, for a living (at the same time paying for my own Postage and Stationery) or that of forming scented Sand for a living, I would take that of forming on scented Sand — I would not have written this at all, had
