Notes for Pauline LaFrance:
On Sunday, October 31, 1926, at 4 o’clock p. m., the Angel of Death invaded the home of Mrs. Felix S. Hingle and took from us the devoted mother and companion. Mrs. Felix Hingle, nee Pauline Lafrance was born in Point-a-la-Hache and was 68 years of age at the time that God called her home. She leaves five children, one son, Mr. Paul T. Hingle, four daughters, Miss Daisy Hingle, Mrs. E W Gravolet, Mrs Clay Cosse, Mrs. Charles Ellington and a of relatives and friends to mourn her demise.
She was a Christian woman a loving and devoted mother. She was loved and respected all who knew her and her death was the source of the greatest sorrow. We know that we can not remove the pangs of distress that affect her loved ones. We may be able to brush away a tear but we cannot surplant it with a smile. All we can do is to record our love and express avowals of sympathy to those who stagger beneath the fearful blow that has fallen upon them. The only perfect Book tells us that shall live again. That promise is sweet to us. It tells us of a heavenly home where every consecrated soul that suffered here may rest among its flowers and live and love forever.

The Spring Hill Review, January, 1902
"Hon. Oscar Arroyo. Hon. Oscar Arroyo died in New Orleans on November 3rd, 1901. Hon. Arroyo was one of the oldest living alumni of Spring Hill College, having resided there as far back as 1840. At the age of twenty-four he was appointed deputy clerk of the court in Plaquemine Parish. When the civil war broke out he enlisted in the Confederate army and was provost marshal of Plaquemine parish when New Orleans was taken by the Federals. Mr. Arroyo made his way through the lines and reached Mobile, whence he was sent to Shreveport. He was appointed private secretary to Governor Allen and served as such until the end of the war. He then came to New Orleans and was appointed customs inspector. He served also as private secretary to Governor Nicholls, and was appointed by Governor Foster special commissioner to investigate civil war claims at Washington. His last political appointment was assistant cashier of the mint. Mr. Arroyo retired from public life about three years ago."

"Members of the Arroyo, Cossé, Montreuil and Garidel families are invited to attend the funeral, Monday, Nov 4, 1901, from St. Louis Cathedral. Died 11/3/1901 @ 78. After completing his course there he became clerk of the court at Plaquemine, under Judge Leonard, for a time, then located at New Orleans, where he was secretary in the Senate and House and assistant secretary of state when the capital was located in the St. Louis Hotel. He served as secretary of state during the administration of Governor Nicholls and later was assistant coiner at the mint. He spent his last years in New Orleans where he died, greatly respected and esteemed, at the age of eighty-six years." (Kendall, pp 1030-1).

Oscar was the author of "The Louisiana State Register, comprising an Historical Sketch and Statistical Account of Louisiana, from its earliest settlement as a territory down to its present period as a state, together with an accurate list of all the state and parish officers." New Orleans: Democrat print, 62 Camp Street, 1881. (?Secretary to Governor Nicholls?). He later settled in Plaquemine Parish, LA. (Daddy's note.)

Excerpts from Daily Picayune Obituary, 11/5/1901, p 14, columns 3-4 "Mr. Arroyo was identified for fifty years with the political history of this state and city. He occupied many positions of trust and honor under the federal, state and municipal governments, and in each he fulfilled his duties with conspicuous ability, intelligence and efficiency. During reconstruction times his heart and hand were in earnest service for the redemption of his native state from the evils of misrule. About the time that the Democratic party was endeavoring to reclaim Louisiana from the corrupt carpetbag government that was in existence only through fraud and the intimidation of the people, Mr. Arroyo was in the government employ as inspector of customs. Being a Democrat and a thorough Louisianian, he could not passively witness the disorders which the radicals were perpetrating in political affairs and he unhesitatingly sided with his people, thereby jeopardizing his position with the federal government. He entered the campaign and made a strong fight with the Democrats during that memorable period which culminated in the triumph of the people's party and the installation of the white man's government, with Hon. Francis T. Nicholls as chief executive of the state. Of course, Mr. Arroyo lost his job at the custom-house, but found staunch support and offers of employment from his friends and allies in the Democracy. He was secretary of the convention that nominated the late John McEnery for governor; was elected secretary of the state central committee, assistant clerk of the house of representatives, clerk of the senate, and when Governor Francis T.
Nicholls took his seat Mr. Arroyo was offered and accepted the position of private secretary to the governor.

The career of this venerable and esteemed citizen takes in a period of active life from 1848 to 1898 -- full fifty years. His first appearance in public life was when he was appointed clerk of court and parish recorder for Plaquemines parish. His last tenure of office was that of assistant cashier at the United States branch mint in this city, to which he was appointed by President Cleveland and which he retained until the position was abolished three years ago.

Oscar Arroyo was a native of St. John the Baptist. His father was a well-known and prominent citizen of New Orleans, who owned property here and also operated a sugar plantation in St. John Parish. His mother, Eulalie Dutillet, was a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of antebellum days. Mr. Arroyo was educated at Spring Hill College, near Mobile, Ala., and on his graduation returned to New Orleans and alternated his time between this city and St. John parish, attending to his father's large landed interests.

At the close of the war Mr. Arroyo returned to this city, and having lost all his worldly possessions through the fortunes of war, applied to his friends to aid him in securing employment. Although well known to be a strong adherent of the Democratic party, Mr. Arroyo had many personal friends on the other side and they secured him a position in the custom-house as inspector of customs. But when the political situation became clouded and bitter animosity sprang up between Democrats and Republicans, Mr. Arroyo did not hesitate to sacrifice his position to join openly his Democratic compatriots. It is part of the political history of this city how Mr. Arroyo labored long and earnestly for the success of the Democracy, and, if he did lose his federal position, he gained other and more profitable employment with the grateful people whose cause he had so valiantly espoused. From 1876 until 1892 Mr. Arroyo was prominently identified with the state administration in various responsible capacities. He was assistant secretary of state under three administrations, private secretary to Governor F.T. Nicholls, special commissioner through appointment by Governor Murphy J. Foster to investigate Civil War claims at Washington in the interest of Louisiana claimants. On his return to New Orleans, Cleveland having been elected and the government having changed from Republicanism to Democracy, Mr. Arroyo received recognition for his faithful adherence to the party by receiving the appointment of assistant cashier of the mint. He retained this position when McKinley was elected president, and this fact of not being included in the exodus that usually marks a change of administration was a recognition of his efficiency and integrity. As an illustration of the high regard in which he was held, irrespective of party affiliations, he was solicited by the Republican governor, Kellogg, to accept the position of representative from Louisiana for the Democratic party on the Hayes-Tilden returning board.

"For many years in the middle of the 1800's, Oscar was the Recorder in the Courthouse. Many documents from this era are in his handwriting. Oscar and Eleanor had one son: (K3D1 Leonard ARROYO (November 1852) "

Stringfield, p. 101,

"The Democratic state convention met at Baton Rouge on Dec. 18 (1883), and in consequence of the bitter fight over contested delegations did not adjourn until midnight of the 20th. The ticket nominated was a follows: Governor, Samuel D. McEnery; lieutenant-governor, Clay Knoblock; treasurer, E.A. Burke; attorney-general, M.J. Cunningham; secretary of state, Oscar Arroyo; auditor, O.B. Steele, superintendent of education, Warren Easton." (Fortier, vol. 2, p. 115)

"In 1874 the (elections) returning board consisted of ex-Gov. J. Madison, Wells, Thomas c. Anderson, L.M. Kenner,G. Casanave (colored), and Oscar Arroyo, the last named being the only Democrat on the board. The election was held on Nov. 2, but the board did not declare the result until Dec. 24. Mr. Arroyo resigned on the 23rd, because the partisan and unjust rulings were such flagrant violations of law that his self-respect would not permit him to retain his membership." (Fortier, V. 2, p. 364).

"After the resignation of Mr. Arroyo from the returning board, the chairman of the Democratic state central committee asked Gov. Kellogg to reorganize the board so that at least two Democrats would b admitted to membership in that body, but the request received no reply. An effort was then made to have Dr. Hugh Kennedy appointed to the vacancy caused by Mr. Arroyo's resignation, but this was also ignored...." (Fortier, v. 2., p 366).

Oscar Arroyo, Baton Rouge, La., private secretary of Gov. Nicholls, of Louisiana, is descended from a long line of distinguished Spanish ancestry, and is a man of superior ability and great personal worth. He was born in St. John Baptist parish, La., June 5, 1824, and is a grandson of Francisco Arroyo y Gutierrez, who came to America as an envoy of the Spanish court. He served as an official in the province of Baton Rouge until 1804, when the county was ceded to the United States of America. (He then became interested in agriculture, and resided in St. John Baptist parish until the end of his life)[sic] (This last statement is false, confusing Oscar's grandfather with his father. Oscar's grandfather Francisco was one of the last Spanish officials to depart New Orleans with Morales et al., at the end of January, 1806). Francisco Arroyo, the son of the above and the father of Oscar Arroyo, was also a planter by occupation. He was identified with the political history of St. John Baptist parish, and served officially in that and St. Charles parish when they were under one administration. He died in 1826, being at that time the incumbent of the office. He married Miss Eulalie Dutillet, a native of New Orleans, and to them four children were born, Oscar Arroyo being the oldest son. He was educated at Spring Hill College, Alabama, and returned to New Orleans, going thence to the parish of Plaquemines. The people of that parish soon testified to the high esteem in which they held Mr. Arroyo by electing him to the office of recorder, in which he served until January, 1854. He then became assistant secretary of the state senate, and discharged the duties of that position until 1862. During the war he held this office, but was employed in the office of the quartermaster as collector of "tax in kind" until 1864, when he was appointed secretary to Henry W. Adams, at Shreveport, where he remained until the close of the war. He was then reappointed assistant secretary of the senate, and served through 1866-67. For the next eighteen months he was clerk in the auditor's office, after which he was minute clerk of the Fourth and Sixth courts of New Orleans until 1875. In that year he was elected assistant clerk of the house of representatives, and served through the session of 1876-77. The next honor conferred upon him was the appointment as assistant secretary of state, in which capacity he served until 1884. He was then elected secretary of the state of Louisiana, and held the office until 1888, since which time he has been private secretary to the governor. It would be almost impossible to make any approximate calculation of the work done by Mr. Arroyo during all these years of his connection with public office. They have been years of faithful and conscientious labor, and have earned for him a reputation that will last as long as the records of the state are preserved. Mr. Arroyo was married to Miss Eleanor Cosse, who was born in Plaquemines parish, La., and two children have been born to them: Leonard, planter of Plaquemines parish and Patrice, a river pilot. The family are members of the Roman Catholic church. Mr. Arroyo is a staunch supporter of the principles of the democratic party. His residence is in Plaquemines parish, where he has a rice plantation.

The first Cosse to come to Louisiana was a French Officer of high rank, who was sent by Napoleon. He was an officer of distinction and from him are decended the Cosse's of this parish..... The large concorse of friends which followed his remains to their last resting place, better attest to the esteem he enjoyed in this community than words can express, to his family and to our friend, Joseph Cosse, the beloved brother of the deceased, the "Protector" extends its expressions of heart felt sympathy. Daily Picayune Jan. 23, 1909 write up (I do not have the first line.) I have a picture from the newspaper.

He was born in Palermo, Sicily in 1848 and came to the United States with his parents when still a child. He attended the schools of New Orleans and upon entering his manhood he branched out in business. He became identified with the firm of Tramontano & Company and then engaged in business for himself and for a number of years speculated in oranges exclusively. He was successful in the venture and established a wholesale fruit and produce business near the French Market.

During the past 3 years he has been in failing health and gave up active business life and sort rest and comfort with his family. About two weeks ago he was compelled to remain in bed, and sank rapidly.

He was noted for his many acts of kindness, and his charitable deeds brought cheer to many homes. He devoted a great portion of his life to making the homes of his countrymen happy, and his death will mean a sad blow to hundreds who felt his bounty. He was a member of several societies FEP Liusitanos(?hard to read) Benevolent Association and the St. Augustin Benevolent Association.

He was twice married. His first wife died many years ago. His widow by the second marriage survives him. He also leaves the following children, Mrs. Peter Spicuzza, wife of a prominent merchant of the French Quarter; Algelica, Alice, and Lulu, and Theodore, Frank and Eddie. He also leaves 2 brothers, Joseph and Victor, both businessmen of this city.

TP 10/6/1925, p2,c7.Kendall, History of New Orleans, Vol 3, pp 1030-3. "One of the best known and universally esteemed vesselmen on the Mississippi....President of the Crescent River Port Pilots' Association....Attended New Orleans Public Schools and then went to Jefferson College, but while a student there his health failed and he did not complete his course, although later he again attended that institution. At the age of nineteen years (1873) he became a steamboat clerk and entered upon his apprenticeship as a river pilot and there are few who are better known or held in higher esteem. And indication of the confidence and regard in which he is held is the fact that he was elected president of the Crescent River Port Pilots' Association in 1914 and that he still retains this position. Captain Arroyo is a member of the Louisiana Historical Society and is greatly interested in the early and later history of the state of his birth."

Miss Pearl Ragas beloved daughter of Mr and Mrs Davis Ragas, aged 21 years. The news of the untimely daeth of Miss Pearl Ragas was learned with great pain and sorrow by the many friends of her family. Miss Ragas was a young girl who was endowed with lovable dispostions and all who knew her loved her. Sad indeed it is to see such a sweet flower mowed down so young but it was God's will and we have the consolation that she has been transplated in the garden of the Heavenly Father where she will bloom forever. The funeral which was very largely attended took place Thursday evening at 4:00 and interment made in St. Roch Cemetery. To the heart broken father and mother we prefer our heart felt sympathey in this their hour of great affiction.

In the death of Onel Dobson a young man twenty five years of age this parish has lost one of its most promising young men, because young Dobson bore all the characteristics which go to make a good and valuable citizen. good personality and had a disposition which endeared all who came in contact with him.
