- vi. Andrew Martin, was born 6 January 1875 in Long Grove, Scott County, Iowa, died 4 June 1931 in Terre Haute, Indiana. At age seventeen he left the family farm and moved to Davenport, shortly thereafter coming to Terre Haute, where he managed the bar of the Terre Haute House. "Andy" was a leader in the field of union labor and in this connection served as president of the Vigo County Central labor union. His obituary tells us that Andrew Powers was "one of Terre Haute's best known residents and for many years an active leader in Democratic political circles." At the time of his death he was city comptroller, a trustee of the boys' club, a Knight of Columbus and a member of the Elk's Club. The flags were flown at half mast, the doorway to the city hall was draped in black and all offices of the city, except the police department, were closed until after his funeral. Family tradition says he married about 1910, however, no mention was made of this in his obituary; he had no children. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church and was buried in the Elk's Rest at Highland Lawn Cemetery in Terre Haute.
