

Arnold, Roger, Dr (from Australia Unlimited)

Bachelor of Science (Forestry) ANU 1981 ? PhD from North Carolina State University.

After graduating spent 6 years working in private industry, then did postgraduate study in the US, then joined CSIRO. From 1999 to 2004 he spent a lot of time in China, mainly working on a project to establish cold-tolerant eucalypt species in a number of southern provinces. Eventually he relocated there permanently. Initially he worked for a Chinese forestry company but after the Global Financial Crisis hit, he accepted an offer to become a senior research scientist at the Chinese Eucalypt Research Centre.
