

Hawkes, Les (from The Consultancy Bureau website)

Bachelor of Science (Forestry) ANU 1969.

Senior Associate in the Consultancy Bureau, is a Forester with extensive ecological management experience throughout Queensland.

His skills in land classification and land use capabilities, environmental and recreational planning and commercial forest management, including fire management, are applied in environmental impact assessment, urban development application and approval processes, land use conflict resolution, recreational planning and development, and the design and implementation of farm and community forestry programs.

He is a member of the Institute of Foresters of Australia.