Amusements

Mother-love is the thome of "The Lullaby," Jane Novak's starring vehicle which is showing for the last time today at the Franklin Theatre. Jane Novak, probably more than any other star of the screen, is suited to such a role as she portrays in this unusually vivid tale written by Lillan Ducey and adapted to the screen by Hope Loring and Louis Lighton.

Mae Murray As Maxican Girl A decided departure from the usual run of Mae Murray pictures, and filled with many fine moments of comedy and drama, "Mademolselle Midnight," the Metro star's latest picture, opened last night at the Victory Theatre for a stay of three days.
The film began with a prologue depleting the court of Napoleon III, and introduced a French lady in waiting. This girl, portrayed by Miss Murray, is the grandmother of the modern girl of the story proper. The beauty of the scenes at court are simply astounding, and Miss Murray, locked magnificent in the hoopskirt of the poriod.

"Flowing Gold" To Be Here Today
The feature at the Strand Theatre will be "Flowing Gold," an adaptation of Rex Beach's latest novel. This First National picture, which was produced by Richard Walton Tully and directed by Joe De Grassee, is declared to set new standards in the gripping quality of its drama and action, while Lytall is the center of the plot, he is not the whole center of the story. The plotters, Dorothy Mackaill and Edmund Breese take their share of the ploture. The story concerns a beautiful girl, daughter of a millionaire and her wedding to a pendiloga voune man. illess young man.
