PREFACE

This is the preface for Book 3. It is one of three books by the same authors. All the researchers that are reviewing this book should consult the other books of this series. Very little information is duplicated from one book to the other books.

The compilation of this book is gathered from many persons. Some of the persons are family members. Other material is gathered from publications other than as stated previously. With all due regard as to the family members and 'other publications', the authors recognize that individuals, when submitting material, slant the data as they, individually, interpret the data. The authors, then, publish the data as 'uninterpreted' and straightforward information. This observation may or may not be true. The researcher then must accept the material as it is presented and then must do further research into the genealogy.

All persons who use this book may or will find errors in the data. The authors apologize for the errors. When an error is found, all the researchers are asked to submit any errors. Then, subsequently, the authors will write an addenda to this book outlining the errors.

Persons may have died, persons were born to families, many were married, divorced, etc. Date and place are essential data to the event of occurrence. On the reverse side of the page, please include a summary account of the family history--such as occupation, religion, where they lived at various times, hobbies, etc.

A good method of submitting any errors is to photocopy the disputed page from the book, make any corrections on the page, and then forward it to the authors. The authors address is:

Lt Col Michael Evanco
3845 27th Parkway
Sarasota, Florida 34235-0027

Other genealogies by the same authors are:

- The WHITED family
- The WALKER family
- The ALDRIDGE family (future publication)
- The EVANCO family (future publication)

NOTES

1. Forrest Jehu Walker (RIN 1336) was a member of the Church of God.
2. Forrest Jehu Walker died at home.
3. A summary of the family history as prepared by a family member:

The Walker family of Naples, who have been residents of Florida about 100 years, have large real estate developments in the area and play an important part in the civic and social life of the community.

Forrest Jehu Walker was born at Bonita Springs, then Surveyor's Creek, in Lee County, Florida, on June 9, 1897, a son of James Russell and Mary (Eller) Walker. His mother was born near Tampa on September 8, 1864, and died at Belle Meade on February 19, 1917. His father, who was a hunter and trapper, was born in Georgia on February 28, 1858; and died at Marco, Florida on August 12, 1933. When James Russell Walker was a small boy, his parents, William and Rebecca (Waldron) Walker, moved into Sumter County, Florida from Georgia. And later when he was in his teens, moved to Polk County, Florida, close to Haines City.

Forrest Jehu Walker attended country school at Henderson Creek (Belle Meade), then in Lee County, now Collier County. He was a commercial fisherman and guide around Naples until about 1940, then he began doing landscaping and trucking work. He started real estate in 1949, beginning with Trail Terrace, a twenty-acre tract in North Naples. His second development was Aqualane Shores, which has about 300 waterfront lots in the center of South Naples. After that came Little Hickory, Bonita Shores, Little Hickory Shores, and Myrtle Cove Acres. Mr. Walker does not build houses; only develops the land and sells lots. Each of these developments is a separate corporation with Forrest Jehu Walker as president of all but Little Hickory Shores, of which his son, James Lorenzo, is president.

The senior Mr. Walker and family were active in the founding of the First National Bank of Naples, of which J. L. Walker has been a director since it opened three years ago. F. J. Walker also is a charter member and founder of the Church of God in Naples, in which his son is assistant superintendent of the Sunday School. He still loves hunting and fishing.
