

SIR GEORGE LEWIS

is the subject of Mr. Harry How's "illustrated interview" in the Strand. The sketch makes more than usually good reading. Sir George is thus described: "A kindly, genial man, whose very appearance wins your immediate confidence. He is of medium height, strongly built, with white hair and whiskers. He is deliberate in every action and every word. . . . He has the most wonderfully penetrating eyes I have ever seen. Penetrating! He never takes them off you. I have seen Sir George take in the beauties of a Burne-Jones with one eye, and with the other look at you!"

Mr. How saw him at his cottage at Walton-on-Thames, at his house in Portland place and in his private room at his business abode in Ely place.

Ely place, Holborn, "is a very old bit of London, and is governed by a separate act of Parliament. It is the only place in the metropolis where the old-time custom of crying out the hours of the night by the porter is still kept up."

"His house is the home of a man of true artistic instincts. Art with Sir George runs in a very delightful channel. He will have the work of our most eminent artists, and their brushes are employed to chronicle the features of the children of the great lawyer.

So I found it in all the rooms of the house—pictures of his wife and his children are given the place of honor everywhere."

Lady Lewis, it appears, "is a most enthusiastic collector of first editions, and has volumes that would positively make a Quaritch envious." "It is probable that no professional man has received so many gifts from his clients as Sir George Lewis." His drawing room is rich with them. He has a cellar full of them.

George Lewis was born on April 21, 1833, and is the son of James Graham Lewis, the founder of the firm. His first school was at Edmonton.

"I remained at Edmonton till I was thirteen or fourteen, when I went to University College, Gower street, until I was seventeen and a half, when I was brought here and articled to my father. I served my five years and was admitted as a solicitor in Hilary, 1856.—Review of Reviews.

Lewis.

With this number Volume IV closes and so much more of the history of the Lewises is a matter of record. Whatever success LEWISIANA has obtained is due in a large degree to the interested members of our family; for we are all of one family and interested in each other's welfare be our ancestor George or Robert, be he the Quaker or the Catholic, whether he helped found the commonwealth of Connecticut or Virginia. Most by their subscriptions but many by also contributing their family records have helped make the paper a success. Still more praise is due to those who have worked (or provided the means for others to work) to secure it new friends in new fields as well as in old pastures. And yet much more is LEWISIANA indebted to that small circle of zealous workers some known to the readers of LEWIS LETTER, others of more recent accession. To this small band the Editor would express his deepest gratitude for their labor of love, freely bestowed out of the fullness of their hearts and in their name extend a cordial invitation to all others interested in this part of the work to join our ranks.

WORK DONE IN VOLUME IV.

Seventeen new Books have been added to the List and four have been merged into others. Forty-three (43) Books of the Lewises are now represented. Of these, all but eleven have had one or more chapters in Volume IV and for some of the eleven records were promised. Owing doubtless to the financial panic of last summer and the subsequent hard times, the subscription list has not yet become large enough to pay actual running expenses. Thus there has been entailed upon the Editor a money contribution—large for one in his financial circumstances. But at the earnest entreaty of many interested workers North and South, East and West, the paper will be continued another year.

WORK TO BE DONE IN VOLUME V.

1. Double the subscription list.
2. Publish the record of every subscriber.
3. Make the paper a necessity for every Lewis in this country.
4. Interest more of our English and Welsh kindred in our enterprise.
5. Merge those Books on the list which are probably parts of others.
6. Secure illustrations of the various Lewis coat-of-arms for headings of the Books.

WHY LEWISES SHOULD HELP.

Family records appear in one of three ways; the private written copy, the conventional book, and, in a few instances, the paper. Those who have undertaken the first know what a herculean task it is and that anything like an extensive circulation usually ends in the disappearance or destruction of the copy. While we all appreciate the book—our family you know—we lament its disadvantages; the difficulty of obtaining subscribers enough to warrant its publication, its expense, its inaccuracies, its uncompleted records and soon it is out of date. LEWISIANA, the peer of all inter-family papers, when its numbers are bound has most if not all the advantages of the book and does away with many of its disadvantages. Its expense is the lowest possible and cover the actual outlay, its records are brought down to date, and in its Record of Life, Notes, etc., it aims to keep its readers posted on the recent events all along the line—a veritable storehouse of events for future use.

Inaccuracies occur to be sure but as soon as discovered are corrected, while the publication of part of a record frequently arouses another member of the family to add to it or complete it. In all the published accounts of the Lewises of Virginia (Books 19, 26, 35, 45 and 47) so far as known to the Editor there are many and serious mistakes, as the omission of a generation, the confusion of "John Lewises" and the mixing of children of different parents. This is also true of some of the New England Lewises notably Book 24 where the usually very accurate Secretary of Yale University has blundered. One writer, owing to the multitude of John Lewises in one generation gave up the task in despair. Evidently LEWISIANA has a mission in this part of its work.

At a slight cost our readers have the privilege of seeing records which were they not reproduced in the paper they might never see. Thus the grandson of Howell Lewis learned of his grandfather's letter to President Washington. Not every one could afford to own copies of all these works and the Libraries seldom have complete collections. Records as yet unpublished are constantly appearing. Some of these are obtained only at great expense both of time and money by the personal searching of the contributors.

Finally LEWISIANA is a, if not the, leader of all family papers and as such serves as a guide—a bright beacon light it is hoped—to its followers and imitators. As Lewises North and South have in colonial and revolutionary days been the leaders in all that was good and honorable so let us preserve the heritage left us and ever keep our banner at the head.

HOW YOU CAN HELP.

1. Subscribe yourself for two copies and endeavor to secure at least one new subscriber for Volume V.

2. Send copies of all records you may have or can obtain. Often you may obtain records in old archives, ancient family Bibles, books of limited circulation which would not come to the notice of the Editor. When the amount of records will warrant the Editor will cheerfully pay postage and return to the sender all books, papers, etc., loaned for this purpose.

3. In New York City (151 Western Union Bldg.) there is a Bureau of Press Clippings and in San Francisco, Cal. (Box 2329) there is a Pacific Coast Press Clipping Bureau. These Bureaus at small expense furnish parties all clippings on any specified subject. What an opportunity for some Lewis of means to furnish abundant and valuable material for the columns, Record of Life, Notes and Clippings in Volume V! Then LEWISIANA could give its readers, in condensed form, each month what the press of the United States had to say about the Lewises.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS.

Explanations, Abbreviations, etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The List of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations commonly used in genealogical work are used; as b. for born; d. died; m. married; m. (1) first wife; dau. daughter; unm. not married; v. p. see page; etc. Instead of repeating the name of a place in the same paragraph initials only are frequently given.

Hints for Contributors.

In writing matter for the printer use only one side of the sheet, note paper preferred. In giving dates, give year, month and day whenever known. Write all middle names in full. Answer the following questions as fully as possible and give names and addresses of such people as you think may be able to complete the record but get it yourself if possible and spare the editor. Old newspaper files, tombstones, family Bibles and records, official records of the town, school and church, burial certificates, county and probate records, old deeds and letters are some of the more important sources of information. Don't forget however the stores of information which the old people can give—Get them interested and then “pump them dry.” Most important of all don't get discouraged yourself. How can you interest others, if you yourself are not alive with enthusiasm?

Family Record Questions.

1. Name in full; initials are often a source of confusion.
2. When and where born?
3. When and where married and by whom?
4. To whom married? Always give name in full and in case of the wife give her maiden name.
5. Give date of birth of your “better half or halves.”
6. Give cause, place and date of death.
7. Names of parents-in-law, being sure to give maiden name of your mother-in-law.
8. Place or places of residence.
9. What is your occupation?
10. When and where educated?
11. What public office have you held?
12. What service in army or navy?
13. What traditions in your family?
14. Give any interesting events in family history.
15. Names of your children with places and dates of birth.
16. If they are married answer questions 3 to 15 inclusive for them.
17. Dates of death for ch. dying unkm.
18. Names of your brothers and sisters with dates of birth, and as much more of their family history as you can give or obtain from them the complete record.
19. Names of your parents. Be sure to give your mother's maiden name with names of her parents.
20. Dates of birth, marriage and death.
21. Names of your father's parents.

22. Dates of birth, marriage and death.
23. Names of children with dates of birth.
24. Any further history of these uncles and aunts that you can obtain.
25. Anything you can learn of your earlier ancestry. Much of this will probably be fragmentary. It is one object of the LEWISIANA to make this complete for you but you must do your part.

By JOHN MERIWETHER McALLISTER, AT-LANTA, GA.

The following positively authentic account of John (6) "The Honest Lawyer," of Spottsylvania (v. p. 157, Vol. IV) is based upon his will and that of his son John Zachary both of record in Spottsylvania.

John (6) son of Zachary (2) and Mary (Waller) Lewis did not m. Sarah Iverson who was the wife of John (3) b. 1704, son of Zachary (1). He did m. about 1750, Ann, dau. of Col. Robert of Belvoir and

He wrote his will in 1766 and appointed his three brothers his executors and named his wife and three children, sons no dau., as his devise or heirs. In 1776 he added a codicil and named his sons as executors showing that they had arrived at the age of twenty-one. This would make his oldest son twenty-five in 1776 and proves the marriage of John (6) to have taken place not later than 1750. 3 ch.

"Concerning General Lewis Littlepage," stated Freeman's Journal of Philadelphia, "less has been written than he really deserved. He was a native of Virginia, once a secretary or protege of Mr. John Jay --- He was at the siege of Gibraltar;

he was well versed in almost all the courts of Europe; was particularly conversant with the Court of St. Petersburg; was acquainted with Suwarrow and many of the great military men of Europe and returned to his native country with ample resources about the year 1802. Littlepage was a man of immense original powers fraught with the most striking anecdotes of men and achievements, and to the last moments of his life exhibited that romantic and original cast of character which had distinguished his earlier adventures.".... A member of the Masonic Fraternity he was buried in the Masonic graveyard at Fredericksburg where upon a marble slab is this inscription:—Here lies the body of Lewis Littlepage who was born in the county of Hanover in the State of Virginia, on the 19th of Dec., 1762 and departed this life in Fredericksburg on the 19th of July, 1802, aged 39 years and 7 months. Honored for many years with the esteem and confidence of the unfortunate Stanislaus Augustus, King of Poland, he held under that monarch, until he lost his throne, the most distinguished offices among which was that of Ambassador to Russia. He was by him created the Knight of St. Stanislaus, chamberlain and confidential secretary in his Cabinet and acted as his special envoy in the most important negotiations. Of talents, military as well as civil he served with credit as an officer of high rank in different armies. In private life he was charitable, generous and just, and in the various public offices which he filled, he acted with uniform magnanimity, fidelity and honor."

From Summary of the Life of the Rev. George Lewis, D. D.

George (2 v. p. 157, Vol. IV.) was adopted in his youth by a wealthy uncle, who would have sent him to Oxford and left him a fortune had he consented to take Orders in the establishment. Instead of doing so he entered the Presbyterian College at Carmarthon and after preparing himself there for the Ministry, was ordained a Dissenting Minister at Carnarvan in 1782. At that place he m. one of the dau. of Mrs. Jones, a widow residing at Beaumaris in Anglesia in 1788.

Their son George and dau. Sarah were b. at Carnarvon. He removed from Carnarvon in 1794 or 5 to Llanuwchllyn, near Bala Lake, where he became the Minister of the Independent Congregation, and where also his son William was born. Here he wrote the whole of his Body of Divinity and the greater part of his Commentary on the New Testament. From Llanuwchllyn he removed to Wrexham in Jan'y, 1812, and was Theological Tutor of the North Wales Academy there. He also traveled through both North and South Wales, and on one occasion preached to a congregation of 12,000 persons at Bethlehem, near Carmarthen. Many persons had come provided with stones to throw at the preacher, among others the wife of one of the leading farmers of the neighborhood; but what she heard had such an influence on her that she went home an entirely changed character.

CHAPTER II.

In Chapter I (p. 173, Vol. IV) something is given of the man William Lewis, planter, St. Marie's Hundred, Md.

In this will be found an interesting "writing" of early days.

The Proccesse against William Lewis, Francis Gray, Robert Sedgrave, etc.

On Sunday the first of July, William Lewis informed Capt. Cornwaleys that certaine of his servants had drawn a petition to Sir John Hervey; and intended at the Chapel that morning to procure all the Protestants hands to it; whereupon the Captaine, (calling unto him, Mr. Secretary), sent for Robt. Sedgrave, (one of the parties informed of) and examined him thereof, who confessed he had drawn a writing and delivered it to Francis Gray; who, being likewise examined, had the writing in his bosome, and delivered it to the Captaine. The writing was of this tenor.

"Beloved in our Lord, etc.

This is to give you notice of the abuses and scandalous reproaches which God and his ministers doe daily suffer by William Lewis, of St. Maries, who saith that our Ministers are the Ministers of the divell; and that our books are made by the instruments of the divell, and further saith that those servants which are under his charge, shall keepe nor read any booke which doth appertaine to our religion within the house of the said William Lewis, to the great discomfort of those poor bondmen which are under his subjection, especially in this heathen country, where no godly minister is, to teach and instruct ignorant people in the grounds of religion. And as for people which cometh into the said Lewis or otherwise to passe the weeke, the said Lewis taketh occasion to call them into his chamber and there laboureth with all vehemency, craft, and subtlety, to delude ignorant persons.

Therefore we beseech you, brethren in our Lord and Saviour Christ Jesus, that you who have power, that you will doe in what lieth in you, to have these absurd abuses and the ridiculous crimes to be reclaymed, and that God and his ministers may not be so heinously troden downe by such ignominious speeches; and no doubt but he or they which strive to uphold God's ministers and word, he shalbe recompenced with eternall joy and felicity, to reigne in that eternall kingdome, with Christ Jesus, under whose banner we fight forevermore."

(All which words aforesaid, which hath been spoken against Wm. Lewis, the parties hereunder written, wilbe deposed when time and opportunity shalbe thought meete.)

Christopher Carnoll, Ellis Berache, Ro. Sedgrave, and others which hereafter may be brought forth.

ELLIS LEWIS, Wales to Penn., 1708.

CHAPTER I.

Ellis Lewis, jurist, born in Lewisberry, Pa., May 16th, 1798, d. Philadelphia, Mar. 19th, 1871. His ancestor Ellis came to this country from Wales in 1708, and settled at Haverford, Pa., and his father, Eli Lewis, bought large tracts of land in York county and founded the town of Lewisberry. The son's inheritance was dissipated through mismanagement during a long minority, and he was thrown on his own resources. He became a printer, and followed the business while studying law. At the age of twenty-four he was admitted to the bar, and soon rose in his profession. In 1824 he was appointed deputy-attorney-general of the state, and in 1832 elected a member of the legislature. He was active in advancing measures for the internal improvement of the state, and framed a bill relating to imprisonment for debt which became a law, and was the first step towards the abolition of the debtor's prison. In 1833 he was appointed Attorney-general and in October of the year president judge of the 8th judicial district. In January, 1843, he was made president judge of the 2d district, in 1851 he was elected a justice of the State Supreme Court, and in 1854-7 was Chief Justice. He was unanimously renominated by the Democratic state convention, but declined and retired to private life. Judge Lewis was one of the commissioners to revise the criminal code of the state. His acquaintance with medical jurisprudence gained him the honorary degree of M. D. from the Philadelphia college of medicine, and he also received the degree of LL. D. from Jefferson college and from Transylvania university. His decisions and opinions are cited with approval by the most eminent authorities on jurisprudence. He published "Abridgment of the Criminal Law of the United States." (Philadelphia 1848.)

EXPLANATION:—The Roman numerals at the left denote the generations. Stars are placed after the names of the youngest member of each family. All on the same line are of the same generation, and hence are consins with the exception of names between the stars which are brothers and sisters. If you preserve your copies, and of course you do, send for an extra copy, cut this page into strips on the division lines and paste the strips together. Then you will have a complete diagram of your family so far as it has been published. All additions and corrections you can furnish will be very thankfully received.
