Oscar W. Underwood, a native of Kentucky, will be the next Congressman from the Ninth Alabama district. Mr. Underwood was born in Louisville, Ma., 6, 18 and springs from one of the best families of Kentucky, his grandfather, Hon. Joseph R. Underwood, having been one of the Justices of the Supreme Court, and his father, Hon. Eugene Underwood, a prominent lawyer of Kentucky. Mr. Underwood completed his academic course at Rugby College, Louisville, and received his legal education at the University of Va., where he stood high in a large class of unusually brilliant young men. He began the practice of law in Birmingham in 1884, and has steadily and rapidly advanced in his profession, until he now occupies an enviable position in the front rank of the Birmingham bar—perhaps the strongest in the State—and is conceded to be one of the ablest and most promising lawyers of his age in Alabama. He married Miss Eugenia Massie, (step-daughter of Judge John L. Cochran), of Albemarle county, Virginia, October 8, 1885. They have 2 sons, John Lewis and Oscar.

[Mrs. Underwood (nee Massie) is a member of Book 45 and her record will in due time appear there. Ed.]

The Rev. John W. Lewis, D. D., is the newly-appointed pastor of the Fifth and Walnut street Methodist church, South, Louisville, Ky. He was the pastor of the Chestnut street Methodist church in 1884 and '85, and is one of the most popular ministers in that denomination. He is a native of Logan county. His father was a leading Methodist in the State, and a minister and presiding elder at Russellville for thirteen years. A brother of Dr. Lewis is the Rev. James A. Lewis, who is now a minister at Russellville Methodist church.

Dr. Lewis was married in 1872 to Miss Lucy B. Donelson, of Bowling Green, Ky., and their family numbers eight children.

He was twice pastor at Hopkinsville for four years each time, and twice a delegate to the General Conference. He was a member of the Ecumenical Council that convened in 1892 at Washington. He has been a pastor at Bowling Green for four years and was transferred to Louisville at the conference recently held at Owensboro. Personally Dr. Lewis is very agreeable, and easy of approach. He is considered one of the orators of his denomination and a preacher of distinguished ability.

Letters With Comments.

"Is it possible that there is a connection between the name Lewis and the fleur-de-lis the reported coat-of-arms of our branch?" Why can we not have the coat-of-arms of our family as a heading of our Book?"

Several families now on the List of the Books have a tradition of a coat-of-arms obtained in some way from France, from the fleur-de-lis, from distant relationship to one of the Louises, from service done the King which he rewarded with knighthood. The Editor would like very much to have as the heading for each Book the coat-of-arms of that branch, but he must have some reasonable proof and also an exact representation of the coat-of-arms.

"That was an excellent suggestion that each subscriber should send in at least his or her own record so that we might become better acquainted with each other.".... "Why don't more send in their own records?".... "I see names each month at the head of chapters whose record I cannot find. I might mention names but"....

Each new subscriber and many old ones whose records have not yet appeared have been urged to send in at least their own and their father's family record. Many have, more have promised to soon but alas these seldom come. If some of these who are going to write would write, the question of the identity of some of the Books would quickly be settled. As it is, lack of evidence now keeps things in too many cases at a stand still. Don't wait. Do it now.

"I want to ask you about—in Sept. issue. I did not suppose another had my name".... I wrote Mr. — at the address you gave but get no answer. I am much interested and think he could give me the data I need and which if I could obtain I could get a great deal more. Can you help me?"

A common experience and the Editor after many similar experiences can deeply sympathize. Record upon record is pigeon-holed waiting until chance shall furnish the missing item which this person, who seems to think records are personal property, holds and will not disclose. Sometimes long and vexatious search will obtain it elsewhere.

The subscription list has several instances of same name, as George A., Harry B., Robert H., etc., but the Editor who has always believed that his first name, so far as Lewises at least were concerned, was his alone, learned recently of another Carll. His letter of inquiry is still unanswered and he fears he will never know how this other Carll got his name, or whether he is related or not. My friends it is one of the incidents common to all who take a hand in this work.

"I see few items of the tribe, but shall not send, if they get drunk, shoot a saloon keeper or go to jail, etc. Of course there are black sheep in every flock, but is it wise for us to help dye the wool?".... "I send the good and the bad.".... "It is certainly not to the credit of the family but we may imagine that he was badly raised and had by a line of degenerate ancestors, come down to disrepute, but his killing a saloon keeper shows his instincts are correct and his heart in the right place, poor fellow! Let us hope that the grand jury will hold him guiltless and that he may live to kill another."

Odds and ends concerning Lewises, far and near, good, bad and indifferent, reads the heading. And it might be added, "and mainly good." We have no reason on account of the occasional black sheep to be ashamed of our name, which from the earliest days of our country has held an honored place in its history, in all departments of its government, in all professions and occupations of life. Space forbids the recital of names which we are tempted to make.

"Can I secure copies of the early numbers of the year 1888?".... "If you can furnish me the missing copies of Vol. II, I will subscribe.".... "Why not reprint?"

How many would take one or more copies of a reprint of the first six months of Vol. II? Let us hear from you. The reprint rejecting all repetition and advertisements, including without change, all records, notes, etc., would make a pamphlet of about 50 pages of this size. If enough will take probably arrangements can be made to have it reprinted.

"I did not intend to tell anyone of this but I see that if I expect to receive assistance I must give the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Yes, even with the utmost care mistakes are easily made in ancestry and kindred questions and if half the evidence is withheld what can inquirers expect? Freely give, freely receive, is the good old rule. Some years ago a correspondent wrote: "I beg you to suppress wholly or partly this date. I have sent it as I knew if I did not you would work until you got it from some quarter."

"I send you a picture of the cottage of Charles R. Lewis of Middletown, Ct. I saw a note in your paper once about ex-Mayor Lewis of Middletown. Is he the man?".... "I think Lewises in public positions ought to have their records published. Your account of Ray T. Lewis on p. 48 was good as far as it went. Why didn't you get his line?"

The Editor regrets his inability not to give more fully the records of these prominent members of our name. But persistent dunning for records requires a large postage fund which LEWISIANA has not. Often personal appeal alone will accomplish the desired end. Let all help.

"It would be no particular use to copy and have published again the records of our line which runs back to the earliest dates of which there are records.".... "This field has all been gone over—the work is done, I may say, well done.".... "The Virginia Lewises have been quite fully published in pedigree—that of John in Peyton's Hist. of Augusta-co;—that of Robert in the Richmond Standard;—and that of Zachary in Virginia Genealogies.

All are recognized authorities. There is very little more which can be done."

All have not copies of these works and some were published some years ago. Now if we mistake not Vol. IV. under Book 35 contains many important correction of errors of one of these works and the Editor is as present receiving many corrections of the records in Book 47 which will soon appear. These records already obtained are often of great help if used as a ground work as in the case of Book 47, but the work is not done in any Book now on the list. Let us all work together and speed the good day when we may say I have a complete record of all my line, thanks to the help of LEWISIANA. Then let us gather these records together into books of choice binding and heavy paper, richly illustrated by pen and pencil with these characters and scenes of the past which so appeal to us. The better LEWISIANA is patronized the better will be these books—the goal of our efforts for you Book 12 or Book 45 and for me Book 8.

If it should prove that Book 8 be a part of Book 24 or Book 36 then all I have accomplished is at the disposal of him who has worked in that field. But meanwhile let us get all out of LEWISIANA that we can. Bring on your choice treasures and see how quickly they will be increased.

BOOK XII.

WILLIAM LEWIS, Farmington, Ct.

CHAPTER LXI.

By R. H. COOKE, PITTSFIELD, MASS.

William (2) Lewis and wife are named as in full communion with church in Farmington Mar. 1, 1679-80. He left 13 ch. living when he died. He was the first recorder of Farmington which was incorporated in 1645.

In his will of July 16, 1689 he gives Philip the place in Hartford.

Philip claimed all the land by the English law of primogeniture.

Mary Lewis informs the court that the £300 granted by jointure to her father, Ezekiel Cheever, was included, to the injury of herself and 3 children.

May 27, 1691, Samuel, William, Eben, John and James Lewis, Samuel Boltwood, Daniel Marsh and Thomas Selden appeal against Philip's claim.

Oct. 1, 1691. In settling William Lewis allows £300 to widow, allows Philip that possessed from his grandfather, and allows Ezekiel only 5£ and Nathaniel only £15. The other ten children share alike.

(The Hist. of Woodbury p. 512 gives the children of Thomas Bull—John, Samuel, and David, and he probably had others.)

To record of ch. given p. 38 Vol. I add

✓ 24.II. Philip m. Sarah dau. of Robert Ashley.

✓ 10.X. James m. Mary Meekins.

✓ 15.XV. Joseph d. Aug., 1679.

✓ 16.XVI. Daniel d. Mar. 16, 1682.

CHAPTER LXII.

From "Quaint Old Farmington" in Hartford, Ct., Courant, Sept. 8, 1894.

Among the many lovely homes on Farmington's broad, handsome street is that of Julius Gay, (v. Sept., 1893 Notes.) here pictured. Mr. Gay has been abroad this summer. He is secretary and treasurer of the Farmington Savings Bank.

His brother, Erastus Gay, is a man who has the highest esteem and respect of everybody who knows him. In 1893 he was a member of the Connecticut House of Representatives, serving on the committee on banks. His father was Wm. Gay. Erastus Gay has been a member of the republican town committee about ever since he was old enough to vote, and has frequently represented his town in the republican state conventions. He has been elected town treasurer by both parties, treasurer of the town deposit fund, a director in everything—State Bank of Hartford, the Farmington Savings Bank, and of the Standard Rule Co. of Unionville, the brisk lively village in Farmington which is the terminus of the new street railway. Mr. Gay is also interested in the famous Farmington Creamery.

Mr. Gay has a beautiful home. He has four sons and four daughters. His wife was Miss Cowles.

Down around the corner, a step from Mr. Gay's store, stands a house that was built by his great grandfather. (v. 186 p. 51 Vol. II. ED.) The place is undergoing improvement, but its age entitles it to veneration, and so we present a view of it.

(Will not Mr. Gay favor LEWISIANA and its readers with the record of Col. Fisher and Phebe (Lewis) Gay? ED.)

ROBERT LEWIS, Gloucester-co., Va.

CHAPTER XXIX.

From Tragedies in Livingston-co., Ky., written for the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal by Atlanta H. Taylor Pool.

After three years of earnest effort to meet the duties of a new home in a new land, Lucy Jefferson Lewis passed into that far country where kindred and friends are no more severed by the intervention of mountains and miles. A little clearing was made about 400 yards from the homestead, and there, in the primeval forest, Lucy Jefferson Lewis was laid to rest, within one mile of the Ohio. A rough, flat stone, obtained from the hillside, without name or inscription, was placed at her head. Lilburn's wife did not long survive: his mother. She was placed in the new-made graveyard on Rocky Point.

Lilburn soon afterward married the accomplished and beautiful Letitia Rutter, the belle of the county and the daughter of one of the most prominent families of Livingston-co. A year or so later a baby boy, James Rutter Lewis, was added to the household. Letitia Rutter, however, chafed under the environments and requirements of her new life. She had been accustomed to the homage of men, and the responsibility of being at the head of a large household and of having to fill the position of mother to the five children of Lilburn Lewis' former marriage changed the proud beauty into a discontented and fretful woman.

During the life of his first wife Lilburn Lewis had never been known to indulge in drink, but after his union with Miss Rutter he became very dissipated. He had been considered a tender husband, and father and, though a strict, he was not an unkind master. * * Lilburn's temper became violent and uncontrolable. A slight misdemeanor on the part of one of the servants became a crime in his eyes. * * * In April, 1812, a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Lilburn Lewis and his brother Isham. The indictment issued against them said that: -

"Lilburn Lewis, gentleman, and Isham Lewis, yeoman, not having the fear of God before their eyes, but being moved and seduced by the instigation of the devil, on the 15th of December, 1811, at the house of said Lilburn Lewis, he, with an ax of the value of $2 (two dollars) held in both his hands, did willfully, and maliciously, and with hate cut a death wound in the neck of one negro man, George, and did afterward cause the body of the same to be burned."

The two brothers determined to die by their own hands.

After Lilburn had made his will on Apr. 9, 1812, at the hour of midnight, they repaired to the grave of their beloved mother. All was to end. Their plan was for each to recline upon the grave, place the muzzle of his gun against his breast and, having removed his shoes, to push the trigger with his toes. Bidding each other a tender farewell, the brothers assumed the positions planned. Lilburn fired first, but when Isham's eyes rested upon his brother's convulsed features and he saw the awful death agony depicted there, his heart failed him. Casting a last look upon his dead brother and his mother's grave he fled through the forest.

Isham Lewis was afterward arrested and placed in jail at Salem to await his trial. Through the aid of some unknown friend he managed to effect his escape. He joined the United States army under an assumed name, and was there distinguished for his reckless courage. His identity was known to many of his comrades, who saw him after he was killed in the front ranks at the battle of New Orleans, Jan'y 8, 1815.

(To be concluded.)

CHAPTER XXX.

BY MRS. M. G. SMITH, NEW ALBANY, IND.

Of the other ch. of Dr. Charles Lilburn (163) and Lucy (Jefferson) Lewis, Martha C. (167) married a carpenter named William Monroe, who was afterward a prominent undertaker in New Orleans where they both died.

He amassed a large fortune, and his daughter married Dr. Coy, of New Orleans, and Rowena Coy, a beautiful daughter of Dr. Coy, married a wealthy merchant of the Crescent City named Mc-Millan.

Nancy (169) died an old maid at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Martha Monroe at New Orleans, over fifty years ago.

Lucy (168), married Washington A. Griffin about eighteen months after Lilburn's death. She d. at my mother's residence in New Albany, in the month of May, 1863. At the time of her death she was seventy-six years of age, and was supposed to be the last of the Jefferson family. My mother is Louisa Griffin Smith, the widow of Benjamin Smith, and is now living with me at the advanced age of sixty-eight years.

CHAPTER XXIII.

BY H. J. LEWIS, JR., LOUISVILLE, KY.
GEN. ANDREW LEWIS' WILL concluded.

To my three grandsons, Andrew, Samuel and Charles, sons of John Lewis, I give all my part of the Pocotated tract (intended for Pocotalico, no doubt, but incorrectly, spelled in transcribing) of land, which part, I think is 2,100 acres, and the whole patented in the name of John Fry, Adam Stephen, Andrew Lewis, Peter Hogg, John Savage, Thos. Butler, — Wright, and John Daniel Wilper. All the residue of my lands, to-wit: 1,000 acres, part of the 2,000 on Sinking Creek, in Kentucky county, and the 3,000 tract on Elkhorn, and 9,000 acres in the forks of the rivers Ohio and Great Kanawha, and a 100 acre tract on Rockcastle creek, near the 9,000, together with 750 entered by warrants, on the Cole river and the Kanawha, be equally divided, having respect to the situation and quality of the land, between my sons, Thomas, Andrew and William.

Any money, negroes and stock I may die possessed of, after my wife has set apart what is divided her, and even that part after her decease, and after my daughter Ann has made choice of a negro wench, or girl, and man, to be equally divided between my sons Samuel, Thomas, Andrew and William, and my daughter Ann.

My wearing apparel I give to my son Andrew, and after Samuel, Thomas and Ann has each taken a bed and furniture, all the remainder of the house and kitchen furniture be considered the property of William, his mother having the right to retain the use of such of them as may be absolutely necessary whilst she lives. In case any of my sons and daughter die before her, or without lawful issue, the part of the estate willed to such deceased to be equally divided between the survivors above mentioned.

It's my desire that my brother Thomas, Col. William Preston, and my three sons, Samuel, Thomas and Andrew, and I hereby appoint them executors of this, my last will and testament, and that each of them, with my brother William and sister Margaret, as well as my other children wear a mourning ring, to be purchased at the expense of the estate before a division.

I hereby revoke all former wills by me made, ratifying and confirming this, and no other, to be my last will and testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal, this 23d day of Jan'y 1780. Signed, sealed and delivered by the testator in the presence of us as his last will and testament, and on the day and year above mentioned.

Roundabout.

A LEWIS REUNION.

A reunion of the Lewis family, commemorating the two hundredth anniversary of their residence in the State, the land books showing a grant in 1694 to their ancestor, Zachary Lewis, the first of their line in this country, was held on Sept. 4, 1894, at Bel-Air, the home of Miss Nannie E. Scott, in Spotsylvania Co., Va.

Within the parlor congregated the guests from a distance on the evening of September 3d, and the hours were spent in happy conversation, music and jest, but on the 4th representatives of the different branches of the family, numbering about fifty, gathered under the magnificent oaks on the lawn and held a formal meeting. Mr. James B. Green, professor in the law department of the University of Virginia, delivered an address of welcome, to which

Dr. John A. Lewis, of Georgetown, Ky., responded; and Miss Nannie E. Scott read a brief history of the family, with biographical sketches of Col. Zachary Lewis and Anne, his wife, which was followed by a biographical sketch of Rev. Cadwalader Lewis, read by Mr. Waller H. Lewis; a brief biography of George Wythe Lewis, read by George A. Lewis; a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Jean Lewis Patteson, read by Mr. Walter L. Patteson, and biographical sketches of Mr. James Scott and his wife Sarah Lewis, and Mr. James M. Holladay, read by Miss Scott. Mr. Alden Scott read a letter containing a glowing eulogy upon the valor and worth of Maj. Harris pronounced by Gen. Robt. E. Lee, and then Dr. Richmond A. Lewis, of Richmond, Virginia, closed the exercises by reading a story he had written for the amusement of his grandchildren, entitled the "Ghosts of Gully Green," the scene of the story being laid at Bel-Air, the home of Messrs. W. J. and W. H. Lewis, in this county and was profusely illustrated with pen pictures by Mr. J. Moncure Lewis, of Richmond. Old Aunt Fanny, the colored maid of Mrs. Col. Zachary Lewis, now nearly a hundred years old, but whose recollection of her mistress and other members of the family long since dead was clear and distinct, was brought in and was introduced to those present, receiving quite an ovation.

The happy gathering then dispersed, perhaps never to reassemble again on earth, as many a head which bowed the sad farewell was frosted by the hand of Time; but the friendships formed and ties cemented upon that sacred spot will live in the memory of each in eternal green as long as life shall last.

EXPLANATION:—The Roman numerals at the left denote the generations. Stars are placed after the names of the youngest member of each family. All on the same line are of the same generation, and hence are cousins with the exception of names between the stars which are brothers and sisters. If you preserve your copies, and of course you do, send for an extra copy, cut this page into strips on the division lines and paste the strips together. Then you will have a complete diagram of your family so far as it has been published. All additions and corrections you can furnish will be very thankfully received.

Record of Life.

BIRTHS.

In New Britain, Conn., July 23, 1894, a dau., Mary, was born to John A. and Mary (Perkins) Lewis.

DEATHS.

In Bermuda, W. I., Dec. 31, 1889, Frederick W. Lewis, of Newport, N. H. "A fearlessly upright and honorable man, scrupulously honest; a friend to what he considered the right and true, a foe to hypocrisy and untruth, a devoted husband and father. Such is the grand monument that Frederick W. Lewis raised to himself in the hearts of those who knew him best."

Fred'k W. Lewis was a son of Frederick S. and Zilinda (Thomas) Lewis, and was born in Claremont, Apr. 6, 1828. He was hired out to work on a farm at 11 years of age, at $4 a month, and continued at farm work three years. At 14 he entered the store of Bela Nettleton of Newport as a clerk. At 24 he became a partner and seven years later sole proprietor. From 1862 until his death he was cashier of the Sugar River Bank, reorganized in 1865 as "The First National Bank of Newport." From 1868 he was treasurer of the Newport Savings Bank, organized in September, 1868.

Instrumental in procuring the establishment of the telegraph in Newport, he worked early and late to secure the building of the railroad to Newport.

He was one of the first to appreciate the advantages and beauty of Lake Sunapee as a summer resort and to foresee its great possibilities. He was one of the most energetic stockholders of the Lake Sunapee Steamboat Co., which built the "Edmund Burke," and was its president and treasurer; and in various ways has indicated his solid faith in that "gem of our mountain land."

In 1856, he married Mary J. Travis, of Natick, Mass. A son was the fruit of this union, Samuel DeWolf Lewis, who is the present assistant cashier of the First National Bank. Besides these, he leaves to mourn his departure a brother and two sisters, Chas. H. Lewis, Mrs. Betsey L. Tilton and Mrs. Harriet Z. Kelsey; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Karr Lewis, and their children,—all of this town.—N. H. Argus and Spectator.
