Commencement Echoes.

At Milton College, Milton, Wis., Pres. Daland, in conferring the honorary degree, Doctor of Letters, upon Edwin Herbert Lewis, Ph.D. (158. VIII) said:—

Edwin Herbert Lewis; Devoted scholar in our beloved language and literature, appreciative student of the literatures of other lands, inspiring teacher, wise and friendly critic, author of valuable and suggestive textbooks, generous friend of learning and of learners, noble exemplar of what is best in the fields through which you are to your pupils so wise a guide, by the authority of the Faculty and Trustees of Milton College and with the greatest personal pleasure I confer upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

At Yale University the candidates for degrees were presented to President Hadley and the corporation by Prof. Williston Walker of the Divinity School. He said in introducing John Franklin Genung (v p 30 Vol. XVI); Scholarly interests in English Literature and in that of the Bible have not infrequently been closely associated, but have never had a better illustration among us than in the work of this professor in Amherst College, who has made these two fields of study his own. His books and his labors in the class-room have smoothed the pathway of the student of Rhetoric and of English style; while his loving and discriminating analyses of the Hebrew scriptures, especially of the splendid dramatic poem of Job and of the more pessimistic wisdom of Koheleth in the book familiarly known as Ecclesiastes are deservedly valued from their philosophical insight and literary charm. A graduate of Union College and of the University of Leipzig, a deservedly beloved teacher, a preacher of acceptance, a Biblical student of helpful insight, unsparring industry and fruitful productivity, we request for Professor Genung the bestowment of the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Who Was He?

Lewis—In Stonington, Conn., June 23, 1905. Merton Brier Lewis, ae. 70 years.

From the Westerly, R. I., Sun.

Merton B. Lewis, who passed away Friday at his home on Broad st., Stonington, after a long and painful illness, was born at White Rock, April 29, 1835, and was the son of Pardon and Susan Peckham Lewis. He m. Rhoda Mercy Peudleton of Quonocotaug, who d. thirty-one years ago, leaving 7 ch., the youngest but one year old, all of whom are now living. They are Mrs. Oliver Buck of Alton, Mrs. John N. Macdonald of Wood River Junction, Abram and Merton B. Lewis of Westerly, Mrs. Sheldon Hoxie of Stonington, Walter H. Lewis of Uxbridge, Mass., and Mrs. Frank Fields of Boston.

At the age of eighteen years Mr. Lewis entered the employ of what is now the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and for over half a century served that company.

For thirteen and one-half years he was a laborer and assistant foreman, was promoted to section foreman; and then to supervisor of construction; and later was general foreman of the New London division, filling the position for fourteen years, or until within a few weeks of his death. Among his many railroad achievements was the supervising of the tracklaying on the great iron drawbridge and the many switches at New London, some seventeen or more years ago.

His one thought was the "railroad," and through all kinds of weather, night or day, "Pop" Lewis, as he was familiarly called by all railroad men, never was known to shirk his duty, never failed to be at his post and was always ready for any emergency.

He was an honest, sturdy, tender hearted man, winning respect and love wherever he was known. He never turned a needy person away and his left hand did many a kind deed that his right hand knew not of. So great was the esteem of his fellow workmen that when they knew of his illness a year ago they purchased and presented him as "a gift from the men the length of the line," a beautiful and comfortable reclining leather chair and today employs the whole length of the road to mourn the loss of a friend and a leader.

Besides his children, three sisters, one brother and five grandchildren are left. A few years ago Mr. Lewis became a member of Charity and Relief Lodge, No. 72, A. F. & A. M. of Mystic and by their rites he was laid at rest.

By the Editor.

The ancestry of Merton B. Lewis commences with this record on Hopkinton, R. I. records:—

Alfred Henry Lewis.

The June issue of Human Life announces Alfred Henry Lewis as its chief editor. In the course of Mr. Lewis's editorial announcement he says:—

"It is the precedental thing, when an editor is called to the chair of a magazine, for him to announce in periods more or less pompously solemn what shall be his conduct of the publication. For myself I have ever distrusted the value of these doorstep declarations. Your editor, like many another man, is prone to take himself too seriously. He overestimates his importance and imagines an emmence in his own favor that does not exist. Wherefore, with the reader's permission, I sign no bond as to how well I shall discharge the responsibilities I have assumed when now I accept the editorship of Human Life. I confine myself to the assurance that, with loyalty to the readers of the magazine as a star to hold by, my task shall be performed to the best of my bent."

Alfred Henry Lewis, one of the five writers whose portraits make the cover for July Cosmopolitan concludes his article on The Future of Rockefeller as follows:—What will young Mr. Rockefeller do with his billion?

He will do nothing. But the billion, moved of the heartless, brainless trust-hunger, proceeding by trust-methods of a voracious dishonesty, will keep on devouring men until its victims take to that Public Ownership of public utilities which is as the sword and the shield proffered of the situation, for their defense and trust destruction.

The August issue contains the first instalment of the notable "Story of Paul Jones," by Alfred Henry Lewis. the lure of whose phrases, the power of whose observations and the keenness of whose analysis of character make this new biography of the doughty American warrior by far the most absorbing and convincing of any yet written in the opinion of its publishers.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS.

Explanations, Abbreviations, Etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The list of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations common in genealogical work are used.

The announcement of the death

(May or June 1905 no date given. Ed.) of Mrs. Harriet Nash Wheeler (v Moses Henry (2037) p 163 Vol. XI) will bring to many friends in this city and vicinity the recollection of a life of loving devotion and unremitting industry to all to whom she could minister. Since leaving this city to take up her residence at the home of her daughter in Waterbury she has extended her sphere of influence and kindly service in behalf of loved ones there and their sense of loss is keener in that her ministrations have been so unceasing to the end.

Mrs. Wheeler left a son, Robert B. Wheeler of Boston, Mass., and three daus., Mary Kate Wheeler, Elizabeth Nash Wheeler and Mrs. Edward O. Goss of Waterbury, and two gr. sons, Edward W. and William Goss.

From the Woman's Magazine.

For some months the announcements
of The People's United States Bank have appeared in our columns. It was intended as an honest proposition and through a far-reaching conspiracy, a conspiracy that will make the blood of every American citizen boil when its history is written; an effort unparalleled in history is being made to destroy this Bank. If it succeeds, we shall extend our guaranty to it and I hereby pledge that I will make good any loss any reader of this paper may sustain through having invested in the People's United States Bank, to the full extent of every dollar I possess, even to my interests in this publication itself, and my home if necessary. Before any stockholder or depositor of the People's United States Bank shall suffer loss, I will become a voluntary beggar.

E. G. LEWIS, Editor.

Chapter CCCLXV.

From Printer's Ink.

A Missouri court has decided that the People's United States Bank of St. Louis is solvent and declares that the receiver, recently appointed, must vacate his position, holding that his appointment was irregular and illegal.
A fraud order was recently issued against this bank by the post-office authorities, but Mr. Lewis has obtained an injunction against the Postoffice Department and as soon as the merits of this have been decided by the courts, the Post-office Department will probably be compelled to deliver the bank's mail.

The whole question involved in the proceedings against the bank is said to be political.

ELLIS LEWIS, Wales to Penn.
Chapter L.

From Merion in the Welsh Tract.

The facts regarding Ellis Lewis, his ancestry and descendants here given, are derived from a very exhaustive and carefully compiled genealogy of this family of Lewis, prepared by Philip Syng Physick Conner, Esq. of Philadelphia, and Octorara, Md. This genealogy which is no v before me, is based, so far as the ancestry is concerned, upon a bequest in the will of Ellis Lewis, which will is dated 25th of 12th month (February), 1747-8; proved at New Castle, Del., 29 October, 1750, and now remaining in the office of Register of Wills at Wilmington, Del. (Will Book G, Vol. I, p 430). This bequest of Ellis Lewis is to his "loving couzens, Elizabeth and Catherine Ellis, who, Mr. Conner assures us, he has identified as Elizabeth and Catherine, daus. of Rowland Ellis, who were, he says, both unkn. and alive about 1747.

The line claimed is through John ap Griffith, of Nannan, a direct male descendant of the ancient native Princes of Powys (This Pedigree in next issue. Ed.) This person had Lewis John ap Griffith, who had (besides Rees Lewis, gr. father of Rowland Ellis) Owen Lewis, who, by Mary, dau. of Tudor Vaughn, had Robert ap Owen, who m Margaret, dau. of John ap Lewis and had a son, Lewis ap Robert, who, by Mary —, (afterwards wife to one Owen Roberts) had Ellis Lewis, the ancestor of the family in this country.

 Chapter XXXVIII.

From New Amsterdam and Its People.

About 1660, Burger Jorissen sold off in small parcels all of his land remaining upon the west side of William street. His later house, the site of which is covered by the New Cotton Exchange, was at the eastern corner of William and Stone streets, and here he resided during the remainder of his stay in New Amsterdam. He left the town, however, soon after the surrender to the English in 1664 and took up his residence upon his Long Island bouvery, selling his house in New Amsterdam to Thomas Lewis in the year 1668. In the early portion of the 18th century, this house became of interest as being the residence and place of business of William Bradford--the first established printer in New York; here, in 1725 is supposed to have been issued the first number of the "New York Gazette," the pioneer newspaper of the city. Clippings.

Attention was called some time ago to a unique copy of Thackeray's "Notes of a Journey from Cornhill to Grand Cairo." This volume appeared, as is well known by Thackeray collectors, in 1846, and was dedicated to Capt. Samuel Lewis of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company's service. It contains a characteristic pen and ink sketch by the author pasted in the front cover, entitled the "New Chibouque," with the following inscription in pencil above: "This drawing was made by Mr. Thackeray on board the Lady Mary Wood and given to my father, Captain Lewis, S. L." It will be remembered by those familiar with the life of Thackeray that it was on the Lady Mary Wood that he started on his journey from Southampton in July, 1844. The copy in question also bears the autograph of "S. Lewis, 1846." This unique volume came up for sale at Messrs. Hodgson's in London in the second week of May, and realized the handsome sum of £17 10s.
