To All Our Readers:—Good Wishes!
HAPPY NEW YEAR.

By Randolph C. Lewis in the N. Y.
Evening Telegram.

LIST to the bell as it jovously peals,
Chiming

And rhyming

The World's hopes and fears—

The laughter, the smiles,

The bloodshed, the tears;

Echoing far o'er the fair lands of Peace

The birth of new Hope the Old Year's release;

Echoing far o'er the Seven Seas'
surge,

Sounding to battle a funeral dirge.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS.

Explanations, Abbreviations, Etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The list of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations common in genealogical work are used.

RANDALL LEWIS, Hopkinton, R. I.
Chapter XLVII.
By Luella Self Whitney, Chenango
Forks, N. Y.
IN MEMORIAM.

ADELIA PERSIS LEWIS SELF.
Late of Triangle, N. Y.

The subject of this biographical sketch was the eldest of eighteen children of Asa (13 v p 33 Vol. II) Lewis, b Blenheim, Schoharie Co., N. Y., Nov. 26, 1822. In her infancy her parents, Asa and Nancy (Green) Lewis moved to the homestead in the town of Triangle which is still owned and occupied by two of his children, her half brother and sister—and her stepmother.

At the early age of twelve years she was converted and awakened to the tremendous responsibilities of life, and at the age of fifteen she united with the Baptist Church in the village of Triangle and at once became an active and influential member of her church and its work—sharing its burdens and blessings for 68 years and until she was called from the activities of this life to join the choir invisible in the realms above and beyond.

As a girl she made the most of the opportunities afforded by the public schools and as a wife and mother performed her whole duty to her family, her friends and her church. On May 20th, 1849, her mother, of sainted memory, passed away, leaving a large family in her charge.

On Sunday, March 31, 1850, at Upper Lisle, N. Y., by Rev. Mr. Bryant, she in Joseph Self, and together they at once established their home on the homestead where she spent a long and useful life, and where she died June 24, 1905, at the ripe age of eighty-two years, leaving her aged husband and three children, a daughter and two sons, to mourn her loss.

She was the mother of seven children, four of whom died in infancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Self celebrated their fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary in March, 1900, at their homestead, and entertained their children and large circle of friends. It was a joyous occasion and one long to be remembered.

Mrs. Self's life was one of more than passing moment in fact, in many respects it was exceptionally good. She recognized God's plan in this world and also in her own life and lived a most unselfish life. She was true to her place in life and filled it. She was great in gentleness, great in righteousness, great in purity and always thoughtful of and planning to help others. She lived a most consistent Christian life and enforced divine truth in every act of her life. She could live in the world and its calamities and still wear a smile. She turned the tempests of sorrow into June showers that brought forth the fruits of love and sympathy.

There was the same grandness in her death hour that had characterized her life. Among her last words were, "How sweet to breathe my life away with Thee," and, "Such joy and peace to die in the Lord." Her funeral was very largely attended at the Baptist Church, where her pastor, Rev. P. J. Peck, spoke from the following text, "The same shall be called great in the Kingdom of Heaven." Matt. 5-19. Mr. Peck used the text to show that true goodness was real greatness in the sight of God and used the life of the departed sister to enforce this fact.

Mrs. Self was 82 years old when she died and the whole community mourned her loss as one would the loss of a kind and loving mother.

BENJAMIN LEWIS, Stratford, Conn.
Chapter CCXXXII.

From Tomlinsons in America.

Jabez H. Tomlinson had a remarkable memory and was noted for discriminating judgment and practical sense. He had a farm at Oronoke in Stratford where he was b and d Jan. 14, 1849, ae. 89. He served in the Revolution (was appointed ensign and served in Continental Line 1777-81 Tuttle Fam. Ed.); was a pensioner in 1832 and 1840; was officer of day that guarded Andre and received from him a miniature likeness of himself. The inscription for his wife's grave stone was most probably prepared by him and is a model of propriety as well as elegance:

"Rebecca Tomlinson (264 Lewis v p

5 Vol. VI) the wife of Jabez H. Tomlinson, who was born on the 3 day of Dec., 1761, and died on the 1 day of Jan., 1823, deeply and justly lamented by her afflicted husband and bereaved children.

Let those who delight to cherish the remembrance of her unwearied and constant affection, imitate the pious example of one whose active and unshaken faith in the divine Redeemer affords just ground of confidence that she has gone to possess an inheritance incorruptible and eternal in the heavens."

JOHN LEWIS, Wales to Va.
Chapter LIX.

From Times-Dispatch, Richmond, Va.

Reuben Maury, 5th ch. of Matthew and Betsey (Walker) Maury, carpenter, was freed from his apprenticeship in Feby 1806. In March of the same year came to Charlottesville to live, bringing with him a negro named Memnon, given him by his father on his 21st birthday. This negro helped him do the rough work while building his house "Piedmont" in 1809. This stately and ancient looking building lies two miles south of the Univ. of Va. at the foot of the Ragged Mountain range in Albemarle. Here he had inherited a tract of about 226 acres of land which had descended to the Maurys through the Walkers, as specified in the grant of George III to Dr. Thomas Walker, in 1772, "lying and being in the county of Albemarle, in the coves and on the ridges of one of the Ragged Mountains." For this tract Dr. Walker paid the sum of 25s. English money. Reuben Maury built the front part of the present building surrounded by a grove of giant oaks.

Chapter CCLXXX

From Rafinesque, Life of Travels

I had once hesitated (to leave America) however when I was told that I might be admitted as Botanist in the expedition which Lewis & Clark were then preparing to survey the Missouri and cross the Oregon mountains. The dangers of this long journey would not have prevented me to join it; but the difficulty was to be admitted as Botanist or learned Surveyor; it appears that Wilson who wished to join the party as Ornithologist or Hunter, could not obtain the permission. The same might have happened with me; but I did not apply; this journey did not promise any reward while I had the offer of a lucrative situation in Sicily, a country new to me.
