The recital was a great compliment to the instructor of these pupils. Mr. George G. Lewis, a pianist whose talent is recognized in the best professional musical circles of Chicago and throughout this part of the country and who has the most desirable faculty of imparting in a large degree his talent to the pupils

For generations the Lyons of New Haven, Conn., have been among the city's intelligent and substantial citizens, prominent among them Col. William Lyon, of the period of the Revolution, a number of whose children allied themselves by marriage with the first families of the city and locality—the Lewises, Linsleys, Bennets and others.

Take two instances, as related by the parties afterward: Rowland Cobb, about seventy years old, one of the chief stewards (Monona County, Iowa, Mormons) was coming home from towards the Missouri river with a load of lumber and was met by a messenger from Thompson, telling him he was commanded by the Lord to start without an instant's delay, without money or change of clothing, and go to Virginia, to the Legislature in session there, and pronounce the vengeance of the Lord upon them if they did not free the slaves.... Another chief man, Thomas Lewis, well educated and intelligent, originally from Kentucky and very devout, while ploughing, had taken off his boots and stockings, coat and vest, and left them at one end of the field; he was met by a messenger from Thompson with the same command for Kentucky that Cobb had for Virginia. He started instantly in his straw hat, shirt and pants, without crossing back to get his other clothes and without money, went to the Kentucky Legislature. His advent seems to have been regarded as a huge joke and the members of the Legislature and state officers treated him with much distinction. He was allowed to address the Legislature either in or out of official session. They got up a supper for him, raised quite a purse with which they got him new clothes, and money for expenses, but there is no record in their proceedings that they acceded to the demands.

The Commercial Club has a 1000 members. It is both a business and a social organization. Every day over 200 of its members gather together at luncheon. The club makes a specialty of entertaining notable people who visit Portland. The executive committee (the 5th of the 9 members L. Allen Lewis v. p 124, Vol. XV. Ed.) have met faithfully and quietly, working hard and desiring no publicity in connection with their sessions, which have been executive. It gave its time and energy without question to the Lewis & Clark Fair. With such men as these, with such cooperation as theirs, what on earth can prevent Portland from becoming a mighty metropolis?

The Lewis Society Of Seattle.

The Lewis Society of Seattle celebrated the 5th anniversary of Loyal Lewis Legion by a reunion and basket picnic at Lewisville (v p 31 Vol. XIV) on the east shore of Lake Washington. It was an ideal spot, an ideal day, an ideal celebration by an ideal crowd which numbered 24 and represented 12 states as well as Canada and Ireland. Seven members of L. L. L. were present whose numbers on the roll (v p 252 Vol. XVI) are 9, 20, 31, 36, 38, 46 and 76

An Index for Lewisiana.

"A Book without an Index is Valueless."

Few of Lewisiana's readers, probably, are aware of the vast store of genealogical knowledge and research locked up in its volumes—inaccessible owing to the lack of an index. Librarians and genealogists have long recognized this fact and are anxious to have these treasures rendered available. The editor admits the truth of the statement "a book without an index is valueless" yet believes that an apology for an index is worse than none at all. The card indexes already prepared are of course the foundations for such an index but in themselves are at the best but mere makeshifts. It was seen at the outset that the labor of preparation would be great, almost herculean. Hence an Index of Places was abandoned as not of sufficient practical worth to cover the time and expense of preparation. Also the labor in making the Index of Lewises was halved by dropping the names of all females as it was believed that all such could readily be located either by their father's name or else by their husband's name in the other index. Constant daily use has proved the truth of this belief. Taking the maximum number of pages accomplished per day as the guide, the work has required over a hundred days of labor. So much by way of preparation, "wherein," as Anthony a Wood said more than two hundred years ago, "what toyle hath been taken, as no man thinketh, so no man believeth, but he hath made the

Suggestions for Printing.

In the issue for May, 1905, a contributor suggested that each subscriber pay a double subscription for one volume and thus raise the necessary means. So far not a single response in favor has been received.

"Find some Carnegie among the Lewises." If there be such, he is keeping his good deeds very quiet.

"There is a fund at Washington the income of which is devoted to helping those at work in various lines of work who have not the means to pursue their work further." The Editor looking back over twenty years of work along Lewis lines is not prepared to admit that he regrets the time given to his hobby but doubts if the awarders of the fund would consider his work of public benefit.

"I have long been a subscriber to Lewisiana and have often personally felt the need of an index. What better object for the Loyal Lewis Legion?"

None of the objects suggested for its energies seem to me anything like as appropriate as an Index for Lewisiana. Sometimes after reading Lewisiana I have felt some members of L. L. L. thought that Lewisiana was much indebted to L. L. L. It seems to me the debt is wholly the other way. L. L. L. owes its very life and existence to Lewisiana and its good offices. Let L. L. L. repay its debt and earn the lasting regard of every loyal son of the name by printing an index to Vols. I to XVI." Our friend's suggestion would have more weight, if he would take out application papers for L. L. L.

"Why not print a column in each issue. I would suggest the editor print five consecutive cards from each index that an idea may be gained as to their form and extent. Let these be the first five Isaacs and five names in order from Gibbs."

Index of Lewis Males reaching maturity.

Isaac (109.I) b May 5 1821, d Aug. 5, 1886, Vol. I. 19. III. 25. IV. 12 Isaac (6 also 97. II) b 1787, d Feb. 8, 1879, Vol. I. 21. 22. 24. V. 99. VI. 111. There are 92 cards for "Isaac" in the Index. When one is living the place of residence if known could be inserted for date of death.

Index of Other Names.

The cards in these Indexes occupy 106 inches and several tests average 150 cards to the inch. Each name has one card, a few two. Each card contains from 1 to 160 references. If a column were given to Index in each issue and above are average cards 20 could be worked off in an issue and it would be years before even the present compilations would be in print. The Editor does not know the number of cards but the above rough calculation would make 16,000.

GENEALOGICAL RECORDS

Explanations, Abbreviations, etc.

For convenience the records of the various Lewis families are divided into Books and each Book into chapters. At the head of each Book appears the name of the earliest known ancestor of that family. The List of Books is a complete index to the Books as published to this time. New Books will be added from time to time as new branches of the Lewis family are found. As soon as Books are proved parts of others they will be merged into the Books to which they belong. Each name is numbered when first printed and whenever the name is repeated this number follows in brackets. The abbreviations commonly used in genealogical work are used.

By Harry W. Lewis, Erie, Penn.

Charles W. Lewis (741 v p 166 Vol. V) unm. res. on the Hartford road a quarter of a mile east of the Elm Tree Inn (v last issue). He is the last Lewis of this line residing in or near Farmington, Conn. He is a member of Conn. S. A. R. (v p 84 Vol. XIV).

He lives in the house built by his gr. father, Elijah Lewis (681) in 1790. Elijah Lewis (681) was a quartermaster in the Continental Army, 1776-1783.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cosgrove (1773 v p 23 Vol XIII) of Le Sueur, Minn., after spending three months visiting many cities of the Plains and Pacific Coast from Los Angeles to Seattle, went to Catalina Islands, were at San Francisco a week leaving a few days only before the earthquake and returned by way of Spokane, Wash. They visited Lakes Washington and Cor-de-Aline, up among the mountains, the Gregson Hot Springs, near Anaconda, Mont. and the Washer Smelting Works, the largest in the world, using 400 carloads of ore a day. They also stopped at Butte, Mont. Mrs. Cosgrove is the eldest gr. dau. of Marcus Lewis (1638 v for portrait p 102 Vol. XII) grammar and high schools. For two years he read law with Marcus H. Holcomb, during which time he did work for New York, New Haven and Hartford newspapers. He was graduated from the Yale Law School in 1903, and has been practicing law since.

In that cemetery (v last issue) situated almost at the summit of the mountain near the dividing line of Wolcott and Southington rest Revolutionary heroes, Capt. Samuel Upson and Capt.

Nathaniel Lewis.

Capt. Nathaniel Lewis (160) was the ancestor of Bennett Lewis and other Lewis families of Marion. Capt. Lewis was also the father of Addin Lewis to whose generosity Wolcott and Southington are indebted for school funds. He was also the great grandfather of Selectman A. M. Lewis (v for portrait p 26 Vol. XVI) of Southington. He was the great-great-grandson of William Lewis, the settler, who came from England in 1632. Capt. Nathaniel (160 v p 149 Vol. IX) purchased land near the cemetery where his home was about 1760. On his gravestone is inscribed "An honest man."

The Lineage Book of the D. A. R. states that Nathaniel Lewis (160) in 1776 entered the army as ensign and served several enlistments during the Revolution. William (274 v p 182 Vol. XI) was a farmer, and in addition to agricultural pursuits conducted both a wheelwright's shop and a cotton mill, at Cotton Hollow, in the township of Naugatuck.

Samuel J. (273) shortly after his marriage came to live in Naugatuck, and in 1845 organized the Goodyear Metallic Rubber Shoe Co. of which he was made president retaining that post until his death, which occurred in 1858. He was a Whig in politics, and a Congregationalist in religious faith, and was instrumental in building the church of that creed in Naugatuck; he was a liberal supporter of its various enterprises and always took a prominent part in directing its affairs.

The old Jean Louis tradition appears here again he being made John who came on the Ship Hercules in 1635 although the traditional account is that Jean Louis did not leave France until the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685 (v p 146 Vol. VI) and emigrated to Va. about 1700 (v p 162 Vol. VI). Chapter CCCXCIX.

From the N. Y. Sun.

New York, Jan. 16, 1901.—After nearly 30 years of impenetrable mystery in the case of Charlie Ross during which fortunes have been spent and continents have been searched in vain efforts to find the stolen boy, or to learn his fate a revelation has been made of many of the most important facts in the case.

These disclosures have come from Senator Plunkitt, a member of the State Legislature from this city, who says he has secured information never before made public in connection with the Philadelphia kidnaping.

"The abductors of Charles Ross," says Senator Plunkitt, "were two New York river thieves, named William Mosher and Joseph Douglass, two notorious burglars whose field of operations had been in Philadelphia. The wagon in which Ross was carried away was hired in New York by Mosher and driven to Philadelphia so as to prevent any possible discovery of the offenders. The wagon was driven about 30 miles out of Philadelphia and was there abandoned, Mosher and his companion, accompanied by their victim, taking passage on the train to New York. Fear kept Ross quiet.

"Upon arriving at New York, Ross was taken on one of Mosher's river craft, and finally, to prevent detection, Charlie was thrown overboard in the bay, after having been tied to iron, so as to make it impossible for his body to rise to the surface."

On the night of Dec. 14, 1874, Mosher and Douglass robbed the house of Judge Van Brunt at Bay Ridge. The brother of the judge shot them both killing one and fatally wounding the other who before he died, confessed that they had stolen Charlie Ross.

Christian Ross (v 760 p 196 Vol. XV) spent his little fortune trying to find his son, but without avail, and about 10 years ago his mind gave way under the strain and he was sent to an asylum for the insane.

Notes in the Family.

July 3, 1906, the Supreme Court of Mo. ordered the People's U. S. Bank restored to its officers and Directors. July 6, 1906, the Postmaster General suspended the fraud order of July 6, 1905, against E. G. Lewis (2209), its President, personally. Me a n while many of the leading banks and trust companies of the country are busy doing business by mail and have adopted Lewis's certified checks and profit sharing certificates of deposit—the very things for which his Bank was and is today deprived of the use of the mails. A Supreme Court declares the Bank sound but U. S. Postal Inspectors declare it a fraud and deprive it of the use of the mails. And we are told there is no appeal.

Chapter CCXCVIII.

By Walker F. Moore, Waco, Texas.

Of the nephews and nieces, both full and half blood, of Meriwether Lewis (64) the Explorer, my aunt, Mrs. Mary Yuille, of Mobile, Ala., alone is living. She is over 70 years old has been bed ridden for over 40 years and is all alone, her only ch. having died a year ago. On a recent visit to her I saw two pictures she has of her uncle, Meriwether Lewis. One is a painted miniature painted by some eminent English artist who came to this country about 1800 and painted pictures of the President and other eminent Americans of the time. This picture my gr. mother never liked but in the back of it is a lock of his hair—in color between a yellow and brown.

The other picture is an engraving and was made in Philadelphia when he was preparing for the Expedition. My gr. mother thought this was the finest picture ever made of him.

Chapter CXXI.

Record of Life in the Family,

At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning death relieved the suffering of Master Andrew Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs.

C. C. Lewis, Jr., after an illness of three weeks. For over a week the child has been in a precarious condition and his death has been momentarily expected and yet it was a great shock to the bereaved family who have closely watched beside the bed of their boy and seen his little life ebbing slowly away. Typhoid fever followed by the dread disease of spinal meningitis caused his death. Dr. Thayer of Johns Hopkins Hospital was in consultation with the local physicians here last week but from the first he gave them but little hopes of recovery.

Andrew was a bright lovable child only thirteen years of age. He leaves to mourn his death, his parents, three brothers and one sister, Margaret Lynn.
