

Q.: "What makes Peter Alderschoff so crazy?"

A.: "Oh, he slept for three months under a crazy quilt when he was an infant."

Two girls met on the street and kissed each other.

Emil Z.: "That's another thing I hate to see!"

Les G.: "What's that?"

Emil Z.: "A woman doing a man's work."

Teacher: "What is dairying?"

Pupil: "Dairying is the milking of cows and putting them in bottles and cans to be sold to the people."

The world is old, yet likes to laugh; new jokes are hard to find.
A whole new editorial staff can't tickle every mind:
So if you see some ancient joke decked out in modern guise,
Don't frown and call the thing a fake, just laugh—don't be too wise.

The tenor sang in Spanish;
The basso sang in Dutch.
Had I the hang of what they sang?
Well, not so very much.

The baritone sang in Russian.
He really seemed to be
An awful hit; though I admit
It was all Greek to me.

At criticizing music
I'm not so very good;
But bless your heart, I like the part
That I have understood.

Little Bobby: "Mother, have I been a good boy, lately?"

Mother: "Yes, dear. A very good boy."

Bobby: "And do you trust me?"

Mother: "Why of course, mother trusts you, son."

Bobby: "Then why do you keep on hiding the jam?"

Visitor: "How old is your little brother?"

Johnny: "He's not old at all; he's this year's model."

An engineer, surveying the right of way for the proposed railroad, was talking to a farmer.

"Yes," he said, "the line will run right through your barnyard."

"Well," answered the farmer, "ye can do it, if ye want, but I'll be jiggered if I'll get up in the night, just to open the gate every time a train comes through."

"I see you have a Mexican car."

"How's that?"

"Thirteen hundred revolutions per minute."

Arthur Caesar's classic about the barber who held the fate of France in his hands, has been produced on lavish feature-film scale by John Ford, the man who made
"The Iron Horse" and "Four

The new and unusual—that sparkling reality which is known as the life of each school year—is caught and held forever within the pages of Bureau built annuals. The ability to assist in making permanent such delightful bits of class spontaneity rests in an organization of creative artists guided by some 17 years of College Annual work, which experience is the knowledge of balance and taste and the fitness of doing things well. In the finest year books of American Colleges the sincerity and genuineness of Bureau Engraving quality instantly impresses one. They are class records that will live forever.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING, INC.

"COLLEGE ANNUAL HEADQUARTERS"

MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA

The practical side of Annual management, including advertising, selling, organization and finance, is comprehensively covered in a series of Editorial and Business Management books called "Success in Annual Building," furnished free to Annual Executives. Secure "Bureau" co-operation. We invite your correspondence.

Two small boys halted before a brass plate fixed on the front of a house whereon was inscribed in bold letters the word, "Chiropodist."

"Chiropodist!" remarked one of them, puzzled. "What's that?"

"Why," replied his companion, "a chiropodist is a feller that teaches canaries to whistle."

---

Helen: "You are late again. What is your excuse?"

Don Luckey: "The minute hand stopped on my watch."

---

Paul Miller: "You seldom find a man with both brains and money."

Harold Wickham: "What makes you so sure that I'm broke?"

---

Ralph E.: "Pa, you remember you promised me five dollars if I passed this year?"

Pa: "Yes."

Ralph: "Well, you ain't going to have that expense."

---

Charles W.: "Say, do you know that suicide blonde?"

Charles O.: "What do you mean?"

Charles W.: "Yeh, dyed by her own hands."

Statue of Liberty (as airplane runs into it, its propellor whirling): "Stop tickling me!"

---

Father: "If you want to make a hit you must strike out for yourself."

Son: "You've missed in your baseball talk, dad. If you strike out you can't make a hit."

CUT 'EM OFF

Abe: "Dot hat is a nize fit, aind it?"

Customer: "Yes, but suppose my ears get tired?"

---

"Why should I lend you five dollars?"

"For sentimental reasons."

"How's that?"

"I've got a date."

---

First Student (in restaurant): "Why are you swiping those spoons?"

Second Student: "The doc told me to take two teaspoons after every meal."

Esther Belle: "Why did you stop singing in the choir?"

Dorothy Martin: "Because one day I didn't sing, and somebody asked if the pipe organ had been fixed."

Prof.: "Why are summer days longer than winter days?"

Stude: "The heat expands them."

Lyle Sanger: "I never like to eat."

Bud Wright: "Why not?"

Lyle: "It spoils my appetite."

Lloyd Kent: "Yes, I learned to play entirely by ear."

Bob Manley: "Haven't you ever had the ear-ache?"

This is a grouchy world. Ah me!
A fellow seldom laughs.
Why don't we wear the smile that we Wear in our photographs?

Squire: "Well, Matthew, and how are you now?"

Convalescent: "Thanks, sir; I be better than I were; but I beant as well as I were afore I was bad as I be now."

"Don't crumble your crackers in the soup, it's against the rules of etiquette."

"Say, am I eating soup or etiquette?"

"Come see the mole I just caught."

"I didn't know moles were contagious."

"Is that fellow you dated me with tonight a good looker?"

"I'll say he is. He's a detective."

Life would be perfect if the dear young thing just wouldn't get the bloom of youth higher on one cheek than on the other.

"Have you heard the latest Scotch song?"

"Let the rest of the world go buy."

She: "I don't care if this is our marriage day, I won't marry you."

Sandy: "Aw, come on. They won't give me my two dollars back."

“Is that a genuine bloodhound?”

“He sure is. Here, Oscar, come over here and bleed for the lady.”

---

Millard Wray was sitting on the step hitting himself on the head with a hammer when his father approached.

Father: “But, my son, you are injuring yourself. Tell me why are you doing that?”

Millard: “Because it feels so good when I stop.”

---

Magistrate: “The police say you and your wife had some words?”

Husband: “I had some, sir, but I didn’t get a chance to use them.”

“What proof have you that Rastus hit you on the eye?”

“Yo’ honor, I got it all down in black and blue.”

Paul H.: “Do you enjoy dancing an encore?”

Georgia Mc.: “Yes, but I believe the fox trot will always be my favorite.”

---

“I want a piece of meat without bone, fat, or gristle,” said the bride, on her first trip to the market.

“Yes, ma’am,” replied the butcher. “I would suggest that you take an egg.”

Tim F.: “Do you know the gorilla song?”

“Pinky” V.: “How’s ’at?”

Tim: “Gorilla my dreams, I love you.”

---

“Are you waiting for somebody?”

“No, I promised to meet a freshman here.”

---

R. Davis: “No, I can’t swim.”

G. Hotz: “Why not?”

Ruth: “Because I’m not in the water.”

---

Crowd: “Say! Sit down in front!”

He: “Quit your kidding. I don’t bend that way.”
