JAMES NISBET of Auchinairn

Portioner of Auchinairn

16 Mar 1670 James Nisbit portioner of Auchinairn Glasgow Lanark weaver

Discharge by Colonel Walter Whiteford, son of the deceased Lord Bishop of Brechin. to James Nisbit, portioner of Auchinairn, of all duties due by him under the Decreet obtained before the Lords of Council at the instance of Walter Whiteford against the "heritors and possessors of lands within the subdeanrie of Glasgow."

Dated 16th March, 1670.

Incorporation of Weavers, Glasgow by McEwan, Robert D

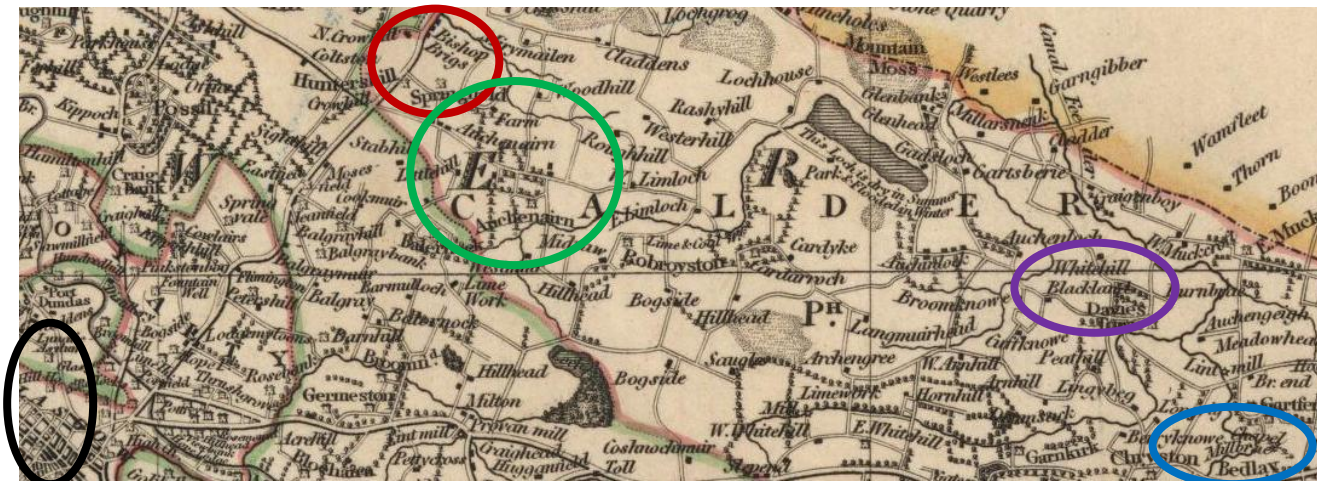

8 Nov 1698 John Nisbet Lands of Auchinairn
RS54/5 f.212 and 213

Recorded at Glasgow Last day of December 1698

On the 8 November 1698, in presence of the notary and witnesses, appeared John Nisbit, eldest son and nearest heir to the deceased James Nisbit portioner of Auchinairne, as well as William Stirling, baillie of the Regality of Glasgow who had been specially appointed for that occasion. John Nisbit presented a precept of sasine which recorded that he had been retoured heir to his father in the sixteen shilling and three penny lands of old extent of Auchinairne and part of the mill of Bedlay together with the pendicle called Crewhill which was bounded on the east by the bridge over which the road from Bishop Bridges to Bedlay ran, lying in the parish of Calder, Regality of Glasgow and Sherifffdom of Lanark. The feu duty paid by his father to the Archbishop of Glasgow is included, but since the abolition of that office, the property had been held from the crown and had been in the hands of the king for three years. The new feu duty is also included. The precept had been written at Edinburgh on the 15 September 1698.

Thereafter, William Stirling gave actual sasine to John Nisbit before the witnesses, John Clark portioner of Auchinairne, John Wardan younger portioner there, John Thomson indweller there and John Wardan, eldest son of John Wardan elder portioner there

William wrote letters to his brother John in New Zealand mentioning his children, his brother James also wrote letters to same brother John mentioning the deaths of his younger children 1st that of Will 's young child or infant - shortly after the death of its mother mentioned in my last-
I regret to add that about the 10th of the following month /January/ I had his letter intimating 2nd the death there of his youngest son, James, about three years old. on the 15th February he called at the Office having been off work for several days & greatly reduced in strength, and he said straitened in means suffering evidently from some bodily disorder - but I was equally surprised & sorry to hear that his other son, Archibald. had (3rdly) died on the 10th & been interred also at Coat Bridge on 12th February 1842. So this is the 4th in his own family during a very short period
