"March 8th 1830, Horrible Catastrophe! Was drowned in the Shenandoah River about ten miles below New Market and near Mr. Lawrence Pitman's in Shenandoah County, Virginia. Mr. Townsend Overholt (of Rockingham) Mrs. Pitman, wife of Andrew Pitman. They were attempting to cross the River, in a skiff, just above the Dam of Mr. Pitmans, and while on their way there came a blast of wind which so much alarmed Mrs. Pitman that she caught Mr. Overholt around the arms which prevented him from rowing the skiff, and unfortunately the wind being against them and the current drawing very hard they were precipitated over the dam into the abyss below where they fell victims of the watery elements."

I suspect this was a son of Philip and Mary S Pitman, given the appropriateness of the birth year, the fact that Philip, Mary S, Nathan, and Rebecca are also buried in Snapp Cemetery, and the fact that George's and Rebecca's stones are nearly identical in style.

As of 12 Sep 2009, the birth year listed in this reference is "1817", but I think the stone may actually read "1847" and that the Rebecca of this memorial may be the same as the dau of Philip and Mary S Pitman who are buried in the same cemetery. The 1850 census lists Rebecca in Philip's household, but not in the 1860 census, suggesting she had died by then.
