

Marching Broncos place in competition

Daleville Marching Broncos brought home a third place trophy Saturday from the Hook's 10th Annual competition at Bush Stadium, Indianapolis.

The Bronco Drill Corps won an "Outstanding Drill Corps" trophy and, the band's three drum majors ended in a three-way tie with other division competitors. A judge's decision gave the trophy to Belmont High School.

Band director Karen Grady said no firsts were given in the band's division. She said divisions were divided according to band size. Ten bands competed against Daleville.

In addition to the two trophies, the band received second place in inspection, scoring 98 out of 100 possible points. The Broncos were featured on Channel 13 News and in Indianapolis Star contest coverage.

Music for the band's drill routine included "Off the Line", and "Truly". The drill corps was featured during the band's rendition of "Working in a Coal Mine." The band played an arrangement of "Chariots of Fire" for the finale.

Mrs. Grady said Saturday's was "the roughest judging we've encountered."

they had no formal training in baton prior to one year in junior high school. They all will soon enter their senior year at Daleville, and their fourth year as majorettes.

Band director, Karen Grady, said the majorettes will compete in at least three contests this year. "They want to enter as a trio," she said. With the Marching Broncos, the girls will compete September 24 at Busch Stadium, Indianapolis; and October 1 at the District Competition for Indiana State School Music Association.

Grady does most of the choreography for the 11-member drill corps. She said the girls assist her also.

In addition to competitions and field shows the majorettes will perform with the band at all home basketball games and in several parades during the school year.

also brought home the "spirit baton" and a trophy.

Melissa Mauck, Debbie Spangler and Carrie Walters said they learned six baton routines at the five-day camp. They are part of an 11-member drill corps at Daleville.

The girls estimated about 200 students participated in the camp. Most were for the area, but there were several from other sections of Indiana and Ohio. "They put on camps at different colleges all over the country, so we did not have any kids from real far away," said Melissa. Camp sponsors and staff come from Dallas, Texas.

Debbie said she has attended majorette camp for the last four years. Melissa has twirled her way through three, and Carrie has been twice. All three girls said
