

---

At Hartford City a fire alarm was turned in under peculiar circumstances Monday evening. Three women were walking near White's hotel, when they saw flames through the window, leaping up the wall. An alarm was turned in and answered immediately. When the firemen reached the room the blaze turned out to be the reflection of the blaze in an open grate in a mirror.

---