1691.	Schuylenburgh was directed to pay from time to time according to the capitulations in that behalf: pursuant whereto Schuylenburgh drew the following bills on the Earl of Ranelagh, viz. 1690, June 2, for 7,500 l. ; 29 July-8 Aug. for 6,000 l. , whereof only 4,011 l. 17 s. 0 d. was for pay of said troops, the remainder being in repayment of so much advanced to the Second Troop of Guards and the Royal Regiment of Horse [of England] by Mr. William Bastiance and is accordingly charged to the respective accounts of those Regiments by said Earl of Ranelagh; of Oct. 5 for 3,600 l. ; of Nov. 14 for 3,600 l. ; of 1690-1, Jan. 13-23 for 3,600 l. , and of Jan. 26 for 3,600 l. : all which bills the said Earl has paid, as appears by the endorsements thereon.
June 30.	Royal warrant to the Auditors of Imprests to allow to the said Earl in his Army account, beginning 1690-1, Jan. 1, 30,000 l. paid as follows, and further to charge him in the same with the interim interest as follows on the 20 orders for 1,000 l. each registered on the East India Goods Duties, which the said Earl assigned to Sir Joseph Herne and put into his hands (viz. five orders on 1690-1, Mar. 11; five on 1691, April 3; five on May 4 and five on June 3) as towards payment of the 30,000 l. to the Duke of Savoy, being 5,000 l. per month for the six months January to June last, according to the abovesaid treaty; which 30,000 l. the said Earl has paid. The present warrant is by reason that said Herne only became entitled to the interest on the said orders from the respective days of assignment as above; so that the prior interest accruing from the date of the orders to such dates of assignment falls to be charged to the said Earl of Ranelagh.	King's Warrant Book XV , p. 406.
	Treasury warrant to the Commissioners for the office of Postmaster General to pay [out of the revenue of the Post Office] to every seaman [of the packet boats as follows] wounded in an engagement with the enemy the smart money and pension money and to the wives and children of the [said] seamen killed the bounty money after the same proportion allowed to the seamen of their Majesties' sixth rate men of war by the Naval Chest at Chatham, viz. whenever any extraordinary accident shall happen whereby the deduction of 10 d. as follows doth not prove sufficient to answer the several payments to be made out of it: all by reason that the said Commissioners have represented by memorial dated the 12th inst. that the packet boats are frequently assaulted by the French men of war and privateers, whereby the seamen run great hazard of losing their lives or limbs, but not being upon the establishment of the Navy nor capable of receiving the benefit of the Chest of Chatham, have been frequently very mutinous and disorderly on this account to the prejudice of the service and preventing that expedition which is necessary to be used in carrying the mails and have lately requested the said Commissioners to move for an establishment according to the rules and orders of the Chest of Chatham in case of such accidents to them; upon which the said Commissioners have represented [in their abovesaid memorial] that towards the providing such a fund a deduction is made of 10 d. out of	Money Book XI , pp. 91-2.
