

JACOB and ELIZABETH (Redding) BOVEE
 Founders of the Bovee line in Barnet.

This is a Dutch name, and the family is said to have come to Barnet and Danville from New York State, first appearing on the Barnet Grand List in 1814. Their choice of this section for residence, so far from any of their own people was no doubt based on the advice of Jacob's father-in-law who had arrived from Middleboro, Mass. some years before.

JACOB¹ BOVEE, b. ab. 1773; m. Elizabeth² [Betty/Rhoda] Redding (b. Middleboro, Mass. Feb. 22, 1777; d. July 11, 1834 "in the 58 year of her age") dau. Moses,¹ and Priscilla (Rider) Redding who first appear on the Barnet

Grand List in 1803, q. v. (p. 586). Priscilla and her brother Stevens Rider, Barnet's first town clerk q. v. (p. 589), descended from at least eight Mayflower Pilgrims including: John Alden, Priscilla Mullens, William Brewster, and Richard Warren [Mayflower Index]. Jacob first appears on the Grand List in 1814 and purchased the Waddell Farm (Hundred Acre Lot 28 near McIndoes Falls only a short distance from the Redding Farm) the following year. He d. Jan. 2, 1842 "Æ 68". Both bur. Stevens Cem. Three sons, Moses R., Peter, and Courtland, and a daughter Elizabeth, who m. William B. Oderkirk, settled in Barnet, Danville, and Peacham.

William B. and Elizabeth R.,² (Bovee) Oderkirk. He d. Danville Jan. 24, 1907; bur. there, but no stone found. Farmed near the Danville/Peacham/Cabot line and was part owner (with Wm. McLaren, Claud Somers, and 3 others) of the Barnet Woolen Manufacturing Co. until abt 1862 q. v. (p. 206).

The retired Peacham Town Clerk [Lorna (Field) Quimby] remembers visiting a small, unkept cemetery near the Barnet/Peacham line across the road from Moses S.'s uncle Moses R. Bovee's place (where J. C. Whitcher lived in 1875). She recalls at least one stone, with engraving, very close to the road, in the southeast corner of the intersection. This cemetery was washed out, then bulldozed in 1978 during road repair and culvert replacement following a flooding. The workers clearly did not recognize a toppled gravestone there, and the area is now quite swampy due to changes in drainage patterns.

The Barnet Hist. Soc. published a map in 1975 calling it the East Hill Cemetery and locating it in the northeast corner of the intersection -- but their site locations were only approximate and never intended to be exact. This location was razed by the skidders conducting logging operations ab. 2001.

This is a Dutch name, and the family is said to have come to Barnet and Danville from New York State, first appearing on the Barnet Grand List in 1814. Their choice of this section for residence, so far from any of their own people was no doubt based on the advice of Jacob's father-in-law who had arrived from Middleboro, Mass. some years before q. v. (p. 586).

 I am not, personally, totally convinced that Jacob¹ is the son of Gerrit (Antonie, Mathias); but, evidence does point to the POSSIBILITY that he MIGHT be; although there is no proof. He also MAY be the son of a Bovee that lived in the Boston area of Massachusetts.
]]

Farmed near the Danville/Peacham/Cabot line and was part owner (with Wm. McLaren, Claud Somers, and 3 others) of the Barnet Woolen Manufacturing Co. until abt 1862 q. v. (p. 206).

The retired Peacham Town Clerk [Lorna (Field) Quimby] remembers visiting a small, unkept cemetery near the Barnet/Peacham line across the road from Moses S.'s uncle Moses R. Bovee's place (where J. C. Whitcher lived in 1875). She recalls at least one stone, with engraving, very close to the road, in the southeast corner of the intersection. This cemetery was washed out, then bulldozed in 1978 during road repair and culvert replacement following a severely heavy rain storm which caused a 100 years' flooding in this area. The workers clearly did not recognize a toppled gravestone there. The Barnet Hist. Soc. published a map in 1975 calling it the East Hill Cemetery and locating it in the northeast corner of the intersection -- but their site locations were only approximate and never intended to be exact. This location was razed by the skidders conducting logging operations ab. 2001. A 1954 Map by the Peacham Historical Society shows the cemetery on the site of Moses' house; a new house sits there now; DW recalls seeing gravestones, 200 yards further, east 50 years ago.
