NOTE::::

If you are, or know of, a living male descendant of this Krause/Krauss line then I offer the following suggestions that may help you and other researchers find your roots:

1) Have a 37-Marker Y-Chromosome DNA test. This is essential, as we have two persons that have been tested and the Haplogroup for this Krause/Krauss line is R1b (R-M269). However, their profiles do not match so one of them is not a Krause from this line. Go to the following link to see the results of those already tested and the kind of information that is obtained from this test.

 Y-Chromosome DNA test results.

2) To order a test and join the Kraus/Krause surname group then go to the following link: Kraus/Krause Surname group. Click on the Join icon at the top right of your screen.

If you would like any further assistance, or help, then feel free to contact me at my regular email address posted at this page on WorldConnect.

Y-Chromosome DNA testing has shown that this branch is R1b for the person tested but that is not proof that the person shown as the earliest known ancestor is the same Haplogroup. At least one other living male needs to be tested and if the match is 37/37 then the profile of their earliest known male on this line is known. However, if there is not a perfect match then a third person needs to be tested to see what the profile is for the earliest known male of this line.
