26th Annual Ballentine-Huxford Reunion Time Draws Closer

It is almost that time again, folks. As the reunion time nears, we need to be making plans to attend. The dates for this year's reunion have been set for July 27 & 28, 2002.

I have been asked how I came up with the number of our reunions. Actually, it should be the 52nd reunion. The reunions started in 1950, but there was a break in which it was not held each year. It started back up again in 1976, and has been held each year since then. So this is our 26th "annual" reunion. I do not know how many were actually held between 1950 and 1976.

If anyone has any ideas for programs to make our reunion better, please contact me for our coordinator, Alice (Price) Stevens at 843-744-0058 or by email, alicepstevens@knology.net. We will be having the kid games, but we would like some ideas for programs for the adults. We need to do more than just "eat and run."

John James Ballentine (1827-1887) - Peter Huxford, Jr. (1822-1896)

I would like to give a presentation about our Confederate ancestors. I have information on our John James Ballentine, Andrew Ballentine, Lewis Ballentine, James Wesley Brownlee, John O. Willson, David McCants Winter and Thomas H. Winter. If you know of any other CSA veterans, please send me their names and units, if known, so I can track down their service records. If possible, I would also like a picture of them.

Remember that on Saturday I will be set up at the Russellville Christian Church fellowship hall with my computer. This is a great time to stop by to check what I have on each family group. I will be glad to make any additions, deletions or corrections to my database at that time. I would appreciate any old letters, documents, pictures or Bible pages that you have. These items add "flesh to our ancestor's bones" and provide valuable information for my research and future newsletter articles. Please take time to dig them out and bring them by the church on Saturday.

More details will follow in the next "Ballentine Branches" issue.

Invalids Seeking Milder Climates

Should go by routes where they will not be subject to sudden and severe changes of temperature. For this reason the Southern Pacific Railway is the favorite winter route to the Pacific Coast and the Southwest. Through trains and splendid service to California, New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, and Mexico, via New Orleans. If you are thinking of going anywhere for your health or for pleasure, write, inclosing ten cents in stamps, and we will be glad to send you some delightful descriptive literature.

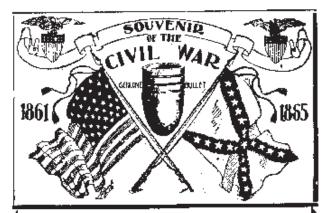

S. F. B. MORSE, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, NEW ORLEANS.

Did you notice the name? Samuel Finley Breese Morse (1791-1872), the inventor of the telegraph was already deceased -- maybe a son or relative?

STRAWBERRY Plants. Largest and choicest stock in the world (50,000,000, 100 varietles). Lowest prices. Safely and cheaply delivered anywhere on continent. Catalogue free.

Strawberry Specialists, Continental Plant Co. South St., Kittrell, N. C.

I wonder who counted all 50 million of those strawberry plants? I didn't even know that there were 100 varieties of strawberries.

A Handsome Souvenir. Genuine Confederate, or Federal, Rifle Bullets, on Card printed in colors, by mail 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. Confederate Bill Souvenir, with verses; ready for framing, by mail 10 cents each; $1 per dozen. You want these. Sit down right now and order. Postal note, or stamps.

RESPESS ENGRAVING CO. Chattanooga, Tenn.

Agents wanted.

When this issue was published, the War Between the States had been over for almost 34 years. Many of the veterans and the memories were still very much alive with them. I would guess that these souvenirs would have sold well at the time.

Souvenirs of the Battle of Manila.

Coins, Shells, Stones, etc., picked up by J. H. Renfroe, of Company F, Fourteenth United States Infantry, before Manila, will be sent to any address upon the receipt of 50 cents.

R. P. RENFROE, Alma, Ark.

I guess while the other soldiers were being issued their beans and bullets, this fellow was picking up seashells!

1930 Census Released

By law, our government must wait 72 years before it can release the contents of our decennial census. The 1930 Census has been eagerly awaited by family researchers because it gives much more personal information that other enumerations.

For me, this is a special census because it is the first time that my father will appear. He was 6 years old in 1930. A sister and two other brothers will also show for the first time.

The questions asked on the 1930 Census were different from other years. The information below can be found at the National Archives' 1930 Census Page, http://1930census.archives.gov.

In addition to the normal residence questions, they also ask for the street, avenue, road, etc. and the house number. The name of each person who lived there as of April 1, 1930 were listed. The enumerator may have visited the home after that date, but only listed people who were living as of that date. Children born after that date were not counted. The relationship of every person in the household to the head of the household is given.

They were asked if their home was owned or rented; the value, if owned, or the monthly rental, if rented. They were asked if they owned a farm and if they had a radio set. Along with the usual personal description data, they were asked their age at last birthday, marital condition and age at first marriage.

Each person was asked if they had attended school or college any time since September 1, 1929, and if they were able to read or write. They were asked their place of birth. If born in the United States, they had to give a state or territory; if foreign born, a country in which their birthplace was then situated. Distinction was made between Canada-French and Canada-English people and Irish Free State from Northern Ireland. Each person was also asked the place of birth of each parent. Their mother's tongue or native language, if foreign born, and the language spoken in the home before coming to the United States.

Foreign born people were asked their year of immigration into the United States, naturalization information and whether or not they were able to speak English

They were asked their trade, profession, or particular kind of work done, industry or business, and class of worker. They were asked whether they they were actually at work yesterday (or the last regular working day) and, if not, line number on unemployment schedule (which no longer exists).

Finally, they were asked if they were a veteran of United States Military or Naval Forces, and in what wars or expeditions they participated.

These question give a much more personal look at our ancestors than ever before. I am really excited about this census release. I have ordered the rolls of microfilm that cover Charleston and Berkeley Counties and expect them to arrive shortly. With them, I will be able to add much more to my knowledge of our family.

Family Reunion - 1991

Crawfords, Bobbitts, Prices, Malavasics

Tater People

Some people never seem motivated to participate, but are just content to watch while others do the work. They are called Speck Taters.

Some people never do anything to help, but are gifted at finding fault with the way others do the work. They are called Comment Taters.

Some people are always looking to cause problems by asking others to agree with them. It is too hot or too cold, too sour or too sweet. They are called Agie Taters.

There are those who say they will help, but somehow just never get around to actually doing what they promised. They are called Hezzie Taters.

Some people can put up a front and pretend to be someone they are not. They are called Emma Taters.

Then there are those who love others and do what they say they will. They are always prepared to stop whatever they are doing and lend a helping hand. They bring real sunshine into the lives of others. They are called Sweet Taters.

Royal Land Grant from King George III

Dugal Ballentine, 50, arrived in Charleston, South Carolina in response to the land bounty offered to Protestant Immigrants to settle in South Carolina. He arrived in December 1767 with his wife Elizabeth, 50, sons, William, 22, Robert, 11, and daughters Mary, 19, and Elizabeth, 17. There is also a Margaret McClelan, 21, listed with them. When the land grants were ordered, a Margaret Ballentine received 100 acres along with Dougal and his family, "at or near Long Canes or in Craven County."

The royal grant above, dated August 11, 1774, and signed by The Honorable William Bull, Lieutenant Governor, "DO GIVE AND GRANT unto Dugal Balentine his heirs and assigns, a plantation or tract of land containing two hundred acres Situate in Craven County, on the waters of Wateree Creek, bounding Northerly by John Isaacs and Easterly by Robert Ellisons land the other sides by vacant lands..."

Rev. William R. Ballantyne

Rev. William R. Ballantyne, 50, arrived at New York aboard the Criterion on October 27, 1820. He was born February 28, 1770 in Scotland. He married Jean White in Scotland. Her age on arrival was given as 38 but her name is listed as Jane. He was listed as "Minister of the Gospel" as his profession.

According to Frederic C. Chalfant, an ancestor of Rev. Ballantyne, he attended the University of Edinburgh and was a member of the Secession Church. During the late 1790's he heeded a call to the Scottish Congregational Church and was ordained in 1798. He had a number of posts, one being in London. There he became a Baptist, joining the Scottish Baptist Church. After his arrival at New York, he became a member of the Philadelphia Baptist Association. In 1832 he left the Baptists to lead a Disciplies of Christ church in Philadelphia. He continued in this capacity until 1834, when he began a long illness which lasted until his death on January 4, 1836.

Accompanying him at his arrival at New York were sons, William, 7, Richard, 6, John, 1 2/12, and daughters Margaret, 20, Isabella, 18, Marrion, 16, Nancy, 14, Catherine, 12, Jean, 9, and Rosanna, 4. After their arrival, they had another son, James.

Ballantyne

The son, Richard, would grow up and move to Alabama with the family. As the situation escalated in Texas in 1835, he would be one of the young men, who signed a statement declaring, "we have left every endearment at our respective places of abode in the United States of America, to maintain and defend our brethren, at the peril of our lives, liberties and fortunes." Richard W. Ballentine then boarded the Santiago to travel to Texas, disembarking there on December 9, 1835.

Richard's father died about three months before him, never knowing that he earned his place in history when he fell with Travis at the Alamo on March 6, 1836. I believe that he would have been very proud of his son.

Thanks to Frederic C. Chalfant of Baltimore, Maryland for his contribution to this article, as well as the picture of the oil painting of Rev. William R. Ballantyne, which he has in his possession.

Rev. John Ballantine, Minister of Westfield, MA

I have been notified by my publisher, Heritage Books, Inc., of Bowie, Maryland, that my CD of Rev. Ballantine's Journal will be for sale in June. I expect to be able to have some at reunion time if anyone would like to purchase a copy.

You will remember that I ran excerpts from the journal in past issues of our newsletter. This is the full 37 years of journal, in Adobe Acrobat format, showing each page, fully searchable and chock full of history. I think everyone should own a copy. It is very interesting reading.

He's Making Good Time!

The gentleman above is Joseph Diggs Huxford, son of Joseph and Ida Diggs (Wilder) Huxford. He was born January 7, 1883 in St. Stephen, Berkeley County, South Carolina. He married Alice Ledford in 1913. He died August 6, 1949 and is buried in the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Cemetery in St. Stephen.

I do not know anything else about him. Did he have any children? Was he in the military? Did he attend college? Can anyone give me some information about his life and family? I would also like to know when and where this picture might have been taken. Without your help, he will remain somewhat of a mystery in our family records.

Family Reunion Activity Ideas

If you have not attended a family reunion in the last few years, please take a moment and let us know why. If we can make changes to the dates or format to suit more people, we can consider doing that. We want to have as many people able to attend as possible.

If you have been in recent years, we need your input. How can we change the overall reunion to make it better? Are there any activities you would like to see incorporated into the reunion? If so, let us know. Don't stay away because you do not like something about the reunion. Let your voice be heard!

I tried to arrange Saturday trips to local cemeteries where many of our ancestors are buried, but I got no takers. What can we do to get folks involved so we do things together and get to know each other?

The food is always great and the short time we spend together is fun, but we have Saturday, too, and we can do more. Speak up!
