General William Buel Franklin

This is a three-quarter standing view wearing a double-breasted frock coat with rank of Brigadier General. His eagle belt plate, sash, and sword, which is attached to his belt, are very clearly visible. Franklin poses with his kepi in one hand. Back mark: E. Anthony, New York, published from a photographic negative in Mathew Brady's National Portrait Gallery. Photo available for $150.00 from:

Letter from the Editor

One of my former subscribers told me that she had stopped subscribing because FFRU seems to have focus on Southern U.S. Franklins. I would like to say that is not correct, but in practice, as we look over the past issues of this FFRU newsletter, I have to agree with her. That is definitely NOT the mission of FFRU, so I will have to make a conscious effort to reverse this trend.

Another complaint recently heard on the Franklin internet newlist, is that the list is primarily U.S.-based. Like the FFRU observation this, too is correct and is also based on participation.

Between the previous volume of FFRU and this one, was Black History Month. My genealogy club at work hired a prominent African-American author to speak about genealogy. She got me thinking about the challenges for researchers with U.S. slave ancestry. You will note that there is an article of African-American Franklins in this issue. If any of you have slave records among your research, please share it. I would be happy to publish it here in FFRU.

This volume contains the second biography of a famous Franklin, General William Buel Franklin, who commanded Union troops in the U.S. Civil War. He was a controversial figure while he was alive. Russ Dodge was kind enough to allow me to publish the photos that he took of General Franklin's grave. Thanks, Russ!

I've received quite a few queries, most of which I could answer in some fashion. Many of those answers and queries are included herein.

African-American Franklins in Knoxville, Tennessee

Found on page <http://members.aol.com/afriamgene/newsletter/oldnews.html>

News-Sentinel Knoxville, Tennessee, 27 Feb 1927, 'Finds Records of First Negro "Marriages"'

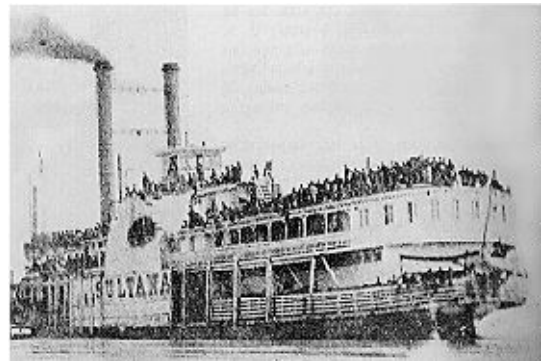

Records of the first legal marriages ever made by Negroes in Knoxville have recently been unearthed by Glenn Graham, chauffeur of Miss Mary Boyce Temple. These notices appeared in copies of "Parson" Brownlow's Knoxville Chronicle of the era immediately following the Civil War. Negroes before the war were simply married by consent of their masters.

The old records disclose among others the following marriages:

Sultana Sinks! 1,500+ Feared Lost

By permission of Greg Reeves <greg@rapidnet.com>, owner of the Sultana web page found at: <http://www.rapidnet.com/~greg/Sultana/Sultana.html>

Clearly overloaded, this is the last known photo of the Sultana, taken the afternoon before the tragedy when the steamer was taking on coal at Helena, Arkansas.

That's how newspaper headlines should have read in the days immediately following the Sultana's explosion on the Mississippi River early on the morning of April 27, 1865. After all, well over 1,500 paroled Union soldiers, crewmen and passengers lost their lives in the cold, muddy waters that spring morning.

Unfortunately, a war-torn and weary nation still was reeling from President Lincoln's shocking assassination just two weeks earlier and the Eastern-established newspapers relegated the sad story to internal pages. However, it was (and remains even today) America's worst-ever maritime disaster. The actual number of passengers aboard the Sultana will likely always be unclear due to poor record keeping at the time of boarding, but scholars today believe that between 2,200 and 2,300 were probably aboard the ill-fated steamer when she exploded nine miles north of Memphis, Tennessee on the Mississippi River.

Of the paroled Union soldiers aboard the Sultana, nearly three out of four hailed from the states of Ohio, Tennessee, or Indiana, but soldiers from Michigan, Kentucky, West Virginia, Illinois, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Nebraska and even Alabama were also aboard!

Here are the Franklins mentioned in the disaster:

State	Name	Rank	Unit	Unit	Disposition
Tennessee	Franklin, James H.	C. Sergeant	A	3rd Cavalry	Died
Indiana	Franklin, B.	Private	F	4th Cavalry	(?)
	Franklin, Benjamin	Corporal	F	40th Infantry	Died
	Franklin, Morgan S.	Private	C	93rd Infantry	Died

Genealogy Tip: Death Certificates and Death Records

Hey, what's the difference between death records and death certificates? If you don't know, you may be missing out on something very important! By Federal Law, vital records began to be kept all over the United States approximately 1910-1920, with the exact date depending on the state. This was the beginning of uniform, official, birth, death and marriage certificates, which were kept by the state. Prior to that time, many counties kept vital records. These vital records are usually kept in large volumes of ledger books. For most jurisdictions in the U.S., if you ask the county or the state for a death certificate for a person who died in 1890, you won't get one. If, however, you ask the county for a death record, that is an entirely different matter!!! This might seem like a nuance to you. To the clerks and various record-keepers, there is a world of difference between a death record and a death certificate.

Now, that said, if someone tells you that they have a birth certificate for someone who was born in the U.S. in 1901, for instance, you should ask to see it. There aren't many of them, but they do exist. The most common reason they exist is that the person needed one later for some purpose and got one after the fact. They exist, but they are rare.

I recently got a request from a researcher who insisted that if I didn't have the birth certificate for a man who was born in Missouri in the 1860's, that they were going to get it themselves... Good luck! Expanding on what I said in FFRU Volume 28, the most likely source for this information is: Census, county birth records (if they were kept) and family bibles. In this particular case, his information was found in the census, in the family bible, in county divorce records and in the local newspapers. Additional insight has been found in a recorded interview with one of his daughters, land records, and a city atlas which lists him as a member of a church. Many events in his life have been documented, but there is no birth certificate.

Birth Certificate Note

From Barton Meeks <Barton.Meeks@pobox.com>: "I learned something about vital records... I went downtown to get a copy of my birth certificate (for a passport.) It didn't have my mother listed! My mother died when I was 13, and stepmother adopted me after she married my father, so the BC listed my stepmother. The woman at vital records told me that after the adoption, my original BC is sealed in an envelope and I would need to get a judge to order having it opened. Anyway, I knew she adopted me at the time, but I was a little surprised when I got my BC. No big deal, but it is another thing to think about when judging the information on a BC."

William Buel Franklin (1823-1903) Civil War Union General

By Ben Franklin, Editor. This is the second in the series of Biographies of Famous Franklins. This photograph: Wet plate, albumen carte de visite photograph, mounted to 2 3/8" x 4" card. Three-quarter standing view, striking a Napoleonic pose with his opposite hand on the back of a studio chair. He is wearing a double-breasted frock coat with rank of Major General. No photographer's imprint.¹

William Buel Franklin was born 27 Feb 1823 in York, York County, Pennsylvania, son of Walter Semonds and Sarah (Buel) Franklin, and grandson of Samuel and Sarah (Semonds) Franklin of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and grandson of William and Abigail Buel of Litchfield, Connecticut. He was the top graduate of the West Point Class of 1843 (Ulysses S Grant was about in the middle of the class that year).

He distinguished himself in the Mexican War in the Battle of Buena Vista under General Zachary Taylor and consequently won a promotion to the brevet rank of 1st Lieutenant.

When the Civil War broke out, he was serving in Washington as the supervising engineer in the construction of the additions to the national Capitol and in the erection of the Treasury and Post Office buildings. His first service in the volunteer army was as commander of a brigade at Bull Run, 21 Jul 1861, where his action in the vicinity of the Henry House attracted the attention of the War Department. His promotions at this time were: colonel of the 12th infantry, 14 May 1861; brigadier-general of volunteers, 17 May 1861, and major-general of volunteers, 4 Jul 1862.

Major General Ambrose Burnside was the commander during the disastrous loss for the Union in the Battle of Fredricksburg. General Burnside blamed General Franklin. Under Burnside, he commanded the 1st and 6th Corps, at the Battle of Fredericksburg, 13 Dec 1862. General Burnside, by complaining that Franklin did not obey orders in this battle caused the General Franklin to be sharply censured by the Congressional committee on the conduct of the war, and he was also removed from his command for insubordination. The failure of President Lincoln to approve the removal led to General Burnside's resignation of his command.

On 15 Aug 1863, he was given the command of the 19th Army Corps and directed its operations, under General Banks, in the Red River expedition of 1864. At Sabine Cross Roads, Louisiana, April 8, 1864, he was severely wounded. He returned home where he was on sick leave until 2 Dec 1864. While still convalescing, he was on a train of the Baltimore and Philadelphia Railroad, 11 Jul 1864, when the train was held up by Confederate raiders. He was captured, but he made his escape the same night.

After retiring from military service, he served as an executive of the Colt Fire Arms Manufacturing Company for 22 years. He was president of the commission which laid out Long Island City, New York, and of the commission which built the state house at Hartford, 1872-73. He was U.S. commissioner to the Paris Exposition in 1889, where he received the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor, 12 Oct 1889. He served as a director of the Panama Railroad Company. He died in Hartford, Connecticut, 8 Mar 1903. He was buried in Prospect Hill Cemetery (Section H, Lot 141), York, Pennsylvania.^{2 1}

Book Review - The Descendants of James Isaiah Franklin

Call Number: US/CAN; BOOK AREA; 929.273; F854fd

Author: Franklin, Dan (Danny Roule), 1953-

Title: The Descendants of James Isaiah Franklin / by Dan Franklin.

Publication Information: Salem, Massachusetts: Higginson Book Company, c1992.

Format: [iii], 257 p.: ill., map, ports. ISBN 0-8328-3887-X

Contents: Thomas B. Franklin (1760-1808) was born in North Carolina and later settled in South Carolina. In 1785 he married Jemima Morris and they became the parents of twelve children. One of their children was Ralph Franklin (1798-1865) who was married three times and was the father of fourteen children. He moved to Texas. Descendants live in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and other parts of the United States.

Bibliography: p. 239-240.

Includes index.

Includes information on the families of Franklin, Coleman, Foster, Richardson and Whitmire.

Earliest Franklin Progenitor: Thomas B. Franklin (1760 - 1808), husband of Jemima Morris.

My Observations: The copy that I viewed at the Family History Library in Salt Lake City was in good condition, appeared to be printed with a dot matrix printer using a proportional Roman style serif-type font. It is clearly written and easy to read. It uses a variation of the Henry numbering scheme. There are a few pages of generalities on Franklins, including the family of the famous Statesman. There are numerous references to source documents and this volume appears to be well-written and documented. The author, Ch MAJ Dan Franklin, is a member of FFRU.

Book Review - Family of Robert Franklin of Charlotte County, Virginia

Call Number: US/Can; Book Area; 929.273; F854m

Author: Marshall, Thomas E. (Thomas Edward), 1915-

Title: Family of Robert Franklin of Charlotte County, Virginia. / compiled by Thomas Edward Marshall.

Publication Information: Bedford, Virginia: T. Marshall, 1993.

Format: iii, 35 leaves: ill., facsims., geneal. tables, maps, ports.

Contents: Family history and genealogical information about the descendants of Robert Franklin (or Franklyn) who was likely born ca. 1745 in Virginia. He married twice, lived in Charlotte County, Virginia and was the father of three known children. Descendants lived primarily in Virginia.

Includes index.

Includes information on the Carter, Harvey, Hutcherson, Marshall, Pugh and Thornton families.

Earliest Franklin Progenitor: Robert Franklin/Franklyn born circa 1745 in Virginia, died about 7 Jun 1813, husband of 1) Elizabeth ? and 2) Mary (Hopkins) Shackleton.

My Observations: The copy that I viewed at the Family History Library in Salt Lake City was in good condition, and is neatly hand-written. It is a collection of family group sheets in a format called "Living Family Chart" and makes heavy use of abbreviations (explained at the beginning of the book) to save space. Some is difficult to read. Includes a photocopy of the Robert Franklin's original will, a listing of the Franklin and Thornton Cemetery in Pamplin, Virginia.

Queries

It appears that a lot of new people are thinking about starting genealogy. There are quite a few beginners, or people who have not made much progress on their own, who are submitting queries in this issue.

Please note: If I know the snail-mail address, it is listed, otherwise I have listed the Email address of the author of the query. If you want to get in touch with someone and can't, contact me - Editor

I will list what I have in case it is of interest to anyone else researching this line.

Judge Silas Franklin (son of John Sr./ Keziah Pierce) RW

Rachel Fellows born about 1772 - 8 Oct 1854 buried 10 October age 82 Canaan VR

Cloe Franklin born 15 Feb 1793; died 23 Feb 1843, age 50 Canaan VR

My mystery woman is my ggggg grandmother, Elizabeth Jennie Franklin. I have read two accounts about where Jennie came from. But first, let me give you the data I have. Jennie married James Boles who (it is believed) came from Pennsylvania. James was the son of John Boles, Sr. and May, Mary, or Polly. Both of them were estimated to have been born in the 1740's. They married in 1761 or 62. They had 3 sons: James Boles, John Boles, Jr., and Thomas Boles. John Boles, Sr. and May/Mary/Polly spent the last years of their life in North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee before the boundaries were established for Tennessee. It has been documented that James lived in Washington County, Virginia and Maryville, Blount County, Tennessee before settling in Overton County, Tennessee. The homeplace where they settled is now in Pickett County, Tennessee (called Bolestown). John Boles, Jr. and Thomas Boles were also found in Washington County, Virginia concurrently with James.Okay, (sorry for the digression, just trying to give you background info) now to the two stories of Jennie:

#1 This account was given to Albert Hogue, historian of Fentress County, Tennessee by Phoebe Boles McClellan. "James Boles was my great-grandfather on mother's side. His wife was Elizabeth Franklin Boles whose mother came over the ocean when she was fourteen years old. James Boles' father settled in Pennsylvania, and Elizabeth's mother and father in Virginia."

#2. It is believed that Elizabeth Jennie Franklin was the daughter of _____ Franklin and Princess Rose, the daughter of Cherokee Chief Obidiah, brother of Chief Nettle Carrier.

Widely divergent accounts, aren't they! Although mental processes can't possibly substituted for reality, these conditions existed at the time of the account that Phoebe Boles McClellan had given. The Cherokees had been forced to evacuate their lands east of the Mississippi and marched to Oklahoma. Those who didn't want to be ripped away from their families, or those with Indian blood, hid their roots. I also understand that it was considered embarrassing to have Indian blood during that time period. (I myself would be honored to have Cherokee blood, and hope that Jennie is found to be half Cherokee.) If you or anyone knows anything about Elizabeth Jennie Franklin, I would be ever so grateful.

Respectfully yours,

Cheryl Smith <O1Cheryl@aol.com>

Editor's Notes: I found a GEDCOM that I copied several years ago, which contains a James Boles, wife Elizabeth Franklin, daughter Phoebe Boles, born 8 Aug 1805 in Blount County, Tennessee; died 1 Sep 1852/1860. No other info. No notes. No sources. It's about 300Kb. It was submitted to the GEDCom database by: Anthony and Peggy Watson; 6911 NE Livingston Road; Camas, WA 98607; United States; (360) 694-1880

Please also note that another Boles and Franklin line is mentioned/detailed in the Charter issue and Volume 10 of FFRU (neither of which is available yet on-line). Here is a brief excerpt: "5. Julia Ann Franklin (born 7 Dec 1809 Mercer County, Kentucky died 1856 Sullivan County, Indiana) 28 Apr 1890 buried Palmer's Prairie Cemetery, Sullivan County, Indiana) married 27 Mar 1830 Mercer County, Kentucky to Major? Pleasant Boles. (Doreen Logsdon Rawlings line) Doreen's resources: Will of James Franklin, Jr., Mercer County, Kentucky 1826 BK 9 pg 86; Family History Library, Salt Lake City, UT, Bk 976.9485 D28i Mercer County, Kentucky; Estate Inventory Mercer County, Kentucky 1827 BK 9 pg 38 & 39 Film #191833; Will Settlement 1830 Mercer County, Kentucky BK 9 pg 342. . ."

The "came over the ocean" story is so common, yet carries no detail that can be verified. Nevertheless, I teach genealogists that these tales frequently have a nugget of truth buried inside them.

All the while I was growing up we had a tale about a Cherokee "princess" in our family. What is that? Most native american communities were arranged in clans, each of which had a chief, so almost all if not every one of the female population could have been said to have been close kin to a "chief," but what exactly did that mean? So far, my research shows that the "princess" in my family was the daughter of an unknown Sauk and Fox indian, and not in any way related to any Cherokees...

I have been searching for Mary Franklin's parents for over 10 years with no luck. Maybe someone will recognize her and contact me. This is all I know about her:

Mary Franklin, born about 1836 in either Georgia or South Carolina depending on which census you look at. She married John Dixon about 1850 or 1851 -- unknown where. She died in October 1876 and is buried in the Dixon Family Cemetery near St. George, Georgia. The first census that I can find either John or Mary in is the 1860 New River, Florida Census. Mary and John are married with 6 children. Mary is listed as 22 years old. The children are Eli, age 8; Jackson, age 7; Abram, age 6; Missouri, age 5; George, age 3, and William, age 2.

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

I'm descended from Thomas and Mary Franklin who came to America from Erin's Isle, Ireland in 1797. Another story says that he came from Dublin. Maybe this was the port he sailed from. He came with three children after his house was burned down by the Catholics. Mary (my line) at age 11, John age 6, and Alexander age 6 weeks. They moved quickly to the Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania area where they stayed for about 6 years. They then moved to the Monroe County, Ohio area for permanent residence. His third son, Alexander, married a Mary Amos in Pittsburgh.

I have a question. I have a Sarah Franklin born about 1817 in Hopkins County, Kentucky and died in 1837 in Jefferson County, Alabama. She married Samuel Houston Wilkey, born about 1812, died about 1886 in Al. I have his father as a Rev. Owen Franklin. Who is this Owen and does anyone have his family make-up? These Owen Franklins are not my direct line and it is difficult for me to keep the Owens straight. Thomas Franklin [1845/55 - 1926] is my direct line. Thanks a bunch.

I am searching for information about Georgina Caroline Franklin who married James C. O'Shea about 1877. Georgina was born on the Isle of Wight about 1855. She appears in the 1881 British census as Georgina O'Shea, age 26, in Peckham, Surrey, England. Her first child, Catherine, was born in Birmingham, Warwick, England. She immigrated to Indiana about 1885. A family story tells that she was a lady-in-waiting. I would like to learn her parents and family.

I wish to contact anyone that is researching Josiah L. Franklin born 1804 in Georgia married Mary Farmer born 1806 in Georgia, or their son Thomas Jefferson Franklin born 1832 Covington County, Alabama, died 1904 in Polk County, Texas. Thomas was married in 1852 to Martha Harville born 1830 Covington County, Alabama. She died about 1909 in Hardin County, Texas.

The 1790 census of South Carolina shows Benjamin Franklin as born "before '56" He was living in Edgefield County. Back in 1948, Leonardo Andrea did research for several families and indicated that Benjamin and Ephraim were probably brothers.. I feel that there were other siblings as well.. I trace my ancestry as follows: Benjamin begat Littleberry who begat Allen who begat Avery, who begat Asa, who begat my father George Avery Franklin... In previous research Brent Holcomb said that Benjamin's father could have been Thomas, but since there were three Thomas's within the area, he didn't want to make a guess. Are there descendants of either Benjamin or Ephraim who can help me with the name of their father ? Any help will be deeply appreciated...

Neil M. Franklin <neilmfranklin@webtv.net>

Jonathan F. Franklin, born about 1788 in Virginia. He married Nancy Grimes and had six sons. The Franklins were in Tennessee and then moved to Sabine Parish, Louisiana in the 1830's. It has been written that Jonathan was given land for service during the Revolutionary War. Nancy was the daughter of a Dr. Grimes. Their sons are: James Washington Franklin, William G., Benjamin F., George, Jackson (A.J.), and Thomas. I am interested in corresponding with anyone researching this family, will share any information.

Joan Carr <jsc44@worldnet.att.net>

My gggrandfather was Hiram Franklin. He was born in northwestern Pennsylvania in 1833. His mother later married a Kocher. Any info would be appreciated.

Soni <jhouser@hargray.com>

Rowena Franklin was born around 1790-1795 in North Carolina and married William Bayless probably around 1810-1815. Their children were: Josiah Franklin born 1818, in Alabama, Hiram Montgomery about 1819, Mariah Elizabeth about 1820, Samuel Lewis about 1823, Mary Jane about 1827. I believe her husband William died in 1828 and she moved with the family to Arkansas, then Missouri and later Kansas where she died in 1881. Her father may have been Josiah Franklin. Would appreciate any info on this family line.

Thank You,

Nancy Weaver nancyl@advertisnet.com
