A List of Rhode Island Soldiers and Sailors in King George's War, 1740-1748

The War of the Austrian Succession having broken out between England and Spain, the General Assembly of Rhode Island met in February, 1639-40# and made provision for putting the Colony in a state of defence. Rhode Island also sent two companies of volunteers under under Capt. Hopkins in the unsuccessful expedition against Cartagena in 1740.

France entered the War in 1744 and the defences of the Colony were on that account still further strengthened. A force of 150 men raised in 1745 for Shirley's expedition against Louisbourg, but the Rhode Island contingent did not arrive until after that fortress had surrendered.* In the following year Rhode Island sent three more companies to Nova Scotia under Captains Sayer, Rice and Cole.

By far the greater part of Rhode Island's effort in this conflict consisted in Privateering. A large number of these vessels were sent out each year and they inflicted great damage on the enemy's commerce. The Colony sloop of War Tartar was built during this war and was of much use as a scouting vessel and convoy guard.

This war, known in the Colonies as King George's War, came to an end in 1748 with the peace of Aix-la-Chapelle.
