Cool Tonight, Wednesday

A break in the oppressively hot weather of the past few weeks is in store for Indiana today.

The National Weather Service said a trough of low pressure located in central Indiana will move southeast to south of the Ohio River by tonight. The weather service said this trough will be followed by high pressure that is gradually building into the lower Great Lakes and Ohio Valley region.

The weather systems will combine to bring the state generally fair and mild weather statewide tonight and mostly sunny and pleasant weather Wednesday.

Highs today will be in the upper 70s north to the low to mid 80s south. Lows tonight will range from the upper 50s to the upper 60s. Highs Wednesday will generally be in the mid 80s.
